MITCHELL TESTIFIES — Surrounded by busy cameramen, former attorney general John N. Mitchell prepares to take the witness stand before the Senate Watergate Committee. In his opening testimony today, Mitchell said he had helped in covering up after the Watergate arrests, and that he did not "believe" President Nixon knew either of the bugging plan nor the subsequent cover-up.

Threat Made To Dissolve Golden Gate Bridge Board

Talks On Bus Service Collapse In Shambles

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Negotiations between directors of the Golden Gate Bridge District and Marin County Transit District collapsed yesterday amid threats to eliminate local bus service and dissolve the bridge district.

The two districts are at odds over the rising cost of local bus service, and three split ballots by bridge district directors failed to resolve the impasse. It must be settled by next week, according to the staffs of both districts.

The staff of the county district has urged a 40 per cent cut in the local service if the impasse cannot be resolved, and the bridge district staff has only until July 18 to schedule new driver assignments required by union rules.

At issue is an agreement between the two districts which requires the county to pay for passengers who board transbay buses for trips entirely within the county. The cost for this part of local bus service was estimated at $1,823 when the agreement was negotiated in February, but soared to a startling $171,079.

The county, conceding it should not have agreed to a cost-sharing formula that penalizes the county so heavily, asked last week that it be excused from paying the unexpected cost hike.

In any event, the county board said last Tuesday, it should not pay more than the $606,687 originally estimated for both purely local bus service and for local passengers using transbay buses. Today, however, the county board offered 4-to-1, with Gary T. Giacomini dissenting, to offer $50,000 more, provided the bridge board agreed in the future not to charge the county for local passengers carried on transbay buses, a charge amounting to $171,000 this year.

At yesterday's joint meeting with two bridge district committees, the county failed to win majority support for its plea. Only eight of the 14 directors on the transportation and finance-auditing committees were present, and split 4-4 three times on motions to "forgive" the county all costs over $606,687, bill the county for the entire cost, or split the difference.

Transportation committee chairman Michael Wornum said the issue will come before the full bridge board at 10 a.m. on Friday with no recommendation by the joint committee. It also may come before the committees when they meet at 9 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. on Thursday, again in toll plaza offices.

Feelings grew harsher as the two-and-a-half-hour meeting wore on, with directors of the county district finally warning they may have to eliminate all local bus service if the bridge district insists on the full payment of $742,076. Paying at this rate, they said, will bankrupt the transit district in three to four months.

Local passengers riding transbay buses require no extra equipment or drivers, thus cost the bridge district nothing — except the trouble of counting the additional fares, the county officials argued.

The bridge district's attorney, Thomas M. Jenkins, argued in rebuttal that state law requires the county to pay for "benefits" of any bus service. He conceded, however, the law did not require the county to pay the full costs of such "benefits." It was "a political decision" up to the board, he said.

Another possibility, pulling some $1.5 million in county funds out of the bridge district, was raised by Supervisor Gary T. Giacomini. He claimed Marin citizens have put $22 million into bridge district coffers in the past three years through tolls, transit fares and gas tax revenues.

Withdrawal of the county funds, he said, would leave the bridge district with the same costs.

The county then could afford to contract with some other agency or company for local bus service.

Jenkins, however, noted it would be up to the Metropolitan Transportation Commission to decide whether the county can pull all its funds out of the bridge district. He said the law requires the county to use gas tax revenue for commuter bus service.

Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste said that if the county transit district were bankrupted by the bridge district he would suggest the county district "go out of business."

Wornum declared that if local bus service has to be cut 40 per cent to pay the bridge district's bill, then he will propose the entire local service be eliminated "and in the process disband the bridge district."

The contrary view on the bridge board was summed up by San Francisco Supervisor Peter Tamaras, who said the board "should not give anyone a free ride."

Board president Stephan C. Leonoudakis of San Francisco added, "We're not going to walk away from $135,000." He said to do so could subject the bridge district to a taxpayer's suit as "a gift of public money."

(A consultant to the county district made the opposite argument last week, saying a coun-

Mitchell Says Nixon Not Informed Of Watergate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Attorney General John N. Mitchell testified today that he helped hush up the Watergate incident and kept information about the burglary and break-in from President Nixon to protect Nixon's re-election chances.

"Maybe in retrospect I was wrong (in not telling Nixon)," Mitchell told the Senate Watergate committee, "but I thought the best thing to do was to keep the lid on until after the election."

Mitchell's testimony came as the committee, after a 10-day recess, resumed its inquiry into illegal activities in the 1972 presidential campaign.

He said he did not tell Nixon what he knew about the burglary and its subsequent cover-up "for the simple reason that there was no necessity of scarring the President, who was not involved."

Mitchell said that not only did he shield the President from information about Watergate, but he also did not believe Nixon knew anything about the cover-up "based on my faith and knowledge of the man."

Mitchell said that as events unfolded following the break-in June 17, 1972, "I formed the opinion and a position that I did not believe that it was fair to the President to have these... White House horror stories (involving Nixon's top aides) come out during this political campaign."

The chief committee counsel, Samuel Dash, asked whether Mitchell was aware that Jeb Stuart Magruder, Nixon's deputy campaign manager, planned to lie to the grand jury about the cover-up efforts.

"I think I can put it on the basis that I had a pretty strong feeling that his testimony was not going to be entirely accurate," Mitchell said.

Pressed by Dash, Mitchell admitted he had no direct knowledge —either from his own conversations with the President or those of others — whether Nixon knew either of the bugging plot or the subsequent cover-up.

"The only thing I can say is that as far as I know, he does not know about either of those circumstances," Mitchell said.

Asked by Dash how he could be certain, Mitchell replied, "I

MARTHA NOT AT HEARING: 'IN HEAVEN'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "She's in heaven, like all angels," John N. Mitchell quipped Tuesday as he arrived to testify before the Senate Watergate committee without his wife, Martha.

"She decided to stay away," the former attorney general told reporters who crowded around him outside the Senate caucus room. "She's in town, but not in Washington."

Someone wanted to know if he had asked his wife to stay away, and he replied: "I've never seen her refrain from anything in my life."

Tennis Club Protest Said Invalid

By PAUL CANE

An appeal that could have delayed or prevented construction of the controversial Canon Village and Tennis Club development was filed after deadline and is therfore not valid, the Fairfax Town Council decided last night. (Other Fairfax Town Council stories, page 7)

Fairfax resident Dale L. Hamilton filed an appeal of the city design review board's acceptance of the environmental impact report for the Sir Francis Drake Boulevard project six working days after the June 14 board meeting. Appeal guidelines stipulate that the appellate action must be taken within five working days to be valid.

Debate arose between council members and citizens attending the meeting as to exactly what time of day the report was approved. If approved was after midnight — in the early morning of June 15 — then Hamilton's appeal would fall within the five-day limit and

$32 Million Pipeline May Go On November Ballot

Ignoring the recommendation of their general manager, directors of the Marin Municipal Water District tentatively decided last night to present a smaller version of the Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct to voters in November. (See another water district story, page 15.)

J. Dietrich Stroeh, manager of engineering, said the board agreed to place a $32 million bond issue on the ballot to finance the aqueduct as a future water supply project for the distrct.

The vote to go ahead with the aqueduct was unanimous, with director Jordan L. Martinelli Jr. absent.

The board indicated it will make a final decision on whether to submit the project to voters on Aug. 22, but, meanwhile, asked the district staff to proceed with plans for the ballot measure.

Directors asked two consulting firms — Arthur D. Little Inc. and Madrone Associates — to prepare a proposal on cost and scope of an environmental impact report on the aqueduct and present it to the board at tomorrow's meeting at 1:30 p.m. in the district office in Corte Madera.

Stroeh said the board rejected the proposed Walker Creek water supply project for the November ballot because the environmental impact statement for that would take too long to complete in the short time available.

The aqueduct, a smaller version of the supply project defeated soundly by voters in November of 1971, would import approximately 16,000 acre-feet of water into Marin annually from the Russian River.

The Walker Creek project, which would bring in about 13,000 acre feet annually, would consist of a reservoir on the West Marin Creek.

Directors acted over the objections of Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger who last month said that it would be unwise to put a large water supply project on the ballot in November.

At that time, Seeger told the board it would be "almost humanly impossible to put together a large project and have any confidence in it" by election time.

In addition, he said a bond issue to finance either the proposed Walker Creek or aquaduct project could necessitate a 50 per cent increase in district water rates if financing has to be arranged in a hurry.

The general manager also said scheduling a bond issue by next November will not provide enough time for the voters to be fully informed before the election and could result in the defeat of the measure.

Marin Will Buy First Open Land

The Marin County Regional Park District Board today unanimously approved the district's first purchase of open space lands — a picturesque 9.5-acre site overlooking Terra Linda.

The parcel, located atop the ridge dividing Sleepy Hollow and Terra Linda, was purchased for $60,000 from the Daughters of the Holy Spirit of Fairfax, a Catholic order.

The wooded site had been appraised at $69,500, Pierre W. Joske, District General Manager, told the board.

It is the first purchase of land by the district formed by voters last year as a tool for acquiring open space lands between communities in the eastern portion of the county.

Joske said the site is located at the end of Fox Lane and was prime for development with water and utilities to the southern boundary.

Water Board Halts Sales To Outsiders

Directors of the Marin Municipal Water District made it official last night: the district intends to cut off water to almost all customers outside the district by July 1, 1974.

By a 2-1 vote, with director Jordan L. Martinelli Jr. absent, the board indicated its intention to terminate all surplus water contracts by that date and provide out-of-district customers with notices of termination on or before Dec. 1.

Director John M. MacPhail Jr. voted against the measure and Board Member Jack R. Felson abstained.

The board's decision means that Muir Woods National Monument, Forts Barry, Baker and Cronkhite, and about 20 homes on Sausalito's Wolfback Ridge will lose their supply of water in less than a year.

Spokesmen for the monument and the forts have indicated that the cutoff may necessitate a temporary closure of both the woods and Army headquarters at Fort Baker.

Two outside customers which will not be affected by the action are the Marin Valley Mobile Home Park and the Sundown Shopping Center, both south of Hamilton Air Force Base.

According to J. Dietrich Stroeh, district manager of en-

Phase IV Food Controls Eyed

ATLANTA (UPI) — President Nixon's Phase IV plan against inflation probably will bring tighter controls on food and gasoline, the chairman of the Cost of Living Council warned yesterday.

"We would like to move out of the freeze into a plan for stricter controls on food than existed in Phase II or III," said Dr. John T. Dunlop.

Dollar Gains In Europe, Asia — Bank Intervention Rumored

LONDON (UPI) — The U.S. dollar rebounded strongly in European money markets today amid reports at least one government bank had moved into the market.

"The central bank seems to have intervened," said a French banking official in Paris. "If so, it would be the first time in quite a long while."

Official central bank intervention to prop up the sinking dollar and British pound and stabilize wildly gyrating exchange rates had been hinted in a weekend communique from the central bank governors of the United States, Canada, Japan and 16 West European nations holding a regular meeting in Basel, Switzerland.

Beginning late yesterday the dollar and pound began marked rallies after sliding downward for months. The rallies continued today, bounding the dollar sharply higher in some cases.

Dealers nearly everywhere attributed the morning rises to the chance government banks would intervene or rumors that they were on the verge of doing so.

Trading remained restrained in volume as the markets waited for American banks and currency exchanges to open at what, in Europe, is midafternoon.

The French bank official's statement was the first reported indication a government bank had stepped into the market to steady exchange rates. Intervention or no, the dollar moved strongly upward on the French exchange, closing in Paris at 4.10 francs. It closed Monday at about 3.92 francs.

Across Europe the dollar also rose —up 2.48 per cent in Belgium, up 1.85 per cent in Holland, up 3.27 per cent in Austria, up in Zurich, London, Frankfurt and other markets.

The dollar's price against the all-important West German mark was fixed today at 2.354 marks, the highest in a week. The fixed price Monday was 2.2835 marks.

Gold dropped in price in free bullion markets as the dollar moved substantially upward, selling for $126 an ounce in London, down $1 from yesterday.

Prime Minister Edward Heath met his cabinet's key economic and financial ministers in London today. No decisions were announced.

China, in the third revaluation of its currency in two months, revalued the remaining (formerly called the yuan) by 5.23 per cent against the Hong

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Greek Vote Pledge

ATHENS (UPI) — The government denied reports yesterday it plans to postpone a July 29 constitutional referendum and an official said a negative vote could lead to civil war and a new dictatorship.

"These reports were spread by those who are afraid of the people's will, who in its great majority is determined to vote 'yes,'" an Athens spokesman said.

Premier George Papadopoulos deposed exiled King Constantine on June 1 and proclaimed Greece a republic.

He also set July 29 as the date for a referendum to confirm him as president.

Pot Law Repealed

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Ann Arbor's $5 marijuana fine, considered the most easy going "pot" ordinance in the nation, was repealed last night while some 150 "street people" protested by lighting up marijuana cigarettes inside the City Council chambers.

One youthful protester hit Mayor J.W. Stephenson with a pie.

On a vote of 7 to 4, the ordinance which made use, possession or sale of marijuana a misdemeanor punishable by a $5 fine, was repealed.

The action means Ann Arbor residents, including students at the University of Michigan, are subject to state law and can be sentenced to jail for a year if they are caught with two ounces or less of marijuana—and a longer sentence if they are caught with more.

Stars Travel Apart

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton, already divided by a continent since their breakup, will get farther apart, at least temporarily.

Miss Taylor, currently in seclusion here, plans to visit relatives in Honolulu, a spokesman for the actress said yesterday

Burton, staying at his lawyer's Long Island beach home at Quogue, N.Y., is planning to fly to Europe for a film festival in Moscow, the lawyer said.

Miss Taylor also plans to be in Rome by July 22 to start work on a movie.

Belfast Violence

BELFAST (UPI) — Gunmen cruising in a car in the town of Belleek killed a man early today, climaxing a night of violence that included the burning of eight buses and several other vehicles in Belfast by gangs of youths.

Police said a second man was seriously wounded in the Beleek shooting.

The death raised the fatality toll in four years of Northern Irish strife to 844.

Boat Toll 200?

DACCA, Pakistan (UPI) — Dacca newspapers said today that about 200 persons were feared dead in the sinking yesterday of a motor launch in an area 100 miles south of Dacca.

The reports said about 150 other passengers swam ashore to safety after the launch went down, reportedly because it was overcrowded.

Police arrested two employees of the sunken launch, the newspapers said, but gave no details.

Brezhnev To Cuba

MOSCOW (UPI) — Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev will visit Cuba in December or January at the invitation of Premier Fidel Castro, the news agency Tass said today.

Police Rout Protesters In Uruguay

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (UPI) — Troops and police used machineguns, teargas, water cannons and swords to disperse a crowd of tens of thousands of persons marching on the excutive offices last night shouting "down with the dictatorship".

Police said "hundreds" were arrested. Hospitals in the downtown area reported 30 persons admitted, including a man identified as Carlos Sanchez, 30, who was reported in a coma with a bullet in his head.

A correspondent saw two other persons shot by police bullets.

The crowds responded to circulars passed around in the capital calling on the people to demonstrate "peacefully and without arms" against President Juan Maria Bordaberry's closing of the congress, and his military-backed-rule-by-decree governement.

Uruguay already has been semi-paralyzed by a general strike called to protest Bordaberry's actions.

An official communique said "organized mobs" working out of the offices of the Communist daily El Popular among other places, had attempted to create disturbances and the army put them down and occupied the newspaper's offices.

The family of retired Gen. Liber Seregni, leader of the leftist broad front political coalition and a presidential candidate in the 1971 elections, said he had been arrested. No reason was given for the arrest, nor for the weekend arrests of four opposition deputies in the dissolved congress.

It was the largest such demonstration since Bordaberry dissolved congress on June 27 and announced he would run this South American country by decree.

Witnesses said mounted troops used swords to beat away demonstrators, some of them elderly persons, women and small children.

The demonstration came after leaflets were distributed in Montevideo calling for a protest against Bordaberry's actions, made with the approval and support of the military.

The leaflets were not signed, but they called for a peaceful demonstration.

Monopoly Suit Hits Oil Firms

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Florida Atty. Gen. Robert Shevin filed a federal "monopoly power" suit against the 15 largest petroleum companies yesterday and said other such suits would follow from around the nation.

After threatening a suit for weeks, Shevin formally asked U.S. District Judge David Middlebrooks to order the firms to break up their alleged monopolies by selling their crude oil exploration interests.

Shevin predicted that although his was the first such state or federal suit, others will be forthcoming, including one from the state of Connecticut and another by the Federal Trade Commission (FTC).

He named as defendants Exxon, Texaco, Gulf, Mobil, Shell, Atlantic-Richfield, Phillips, Continental, Sun, Union, Cities Service, Marathon, Standard Oil of California, Standard Oil of Indiana, and Standard Oil of Ohio.

ROBERT SHEVIN
Sees more suits

He accused the companies of "manipulating" the current gas shortage and said, "Our position is that there is no shortage. The alleged shortage is the result of anti-competitive practices manipulated by the major oil companies to drive out their competitors."

"We cannot stand by and watch the small independent dealers driven out of business. We cannot stand by and watch prices go up. We cannot stand by and watch the people of Florida manipulated as they have been since this alleged crisis began," Shevin said.

The author of the 68-page suit was Shevin's assistant, Dan Dearing, who said "The key is crude oil, and he who holds crude controls the industry."

He said he hoped to make crude oil available to small companies by having the large oil companies divest themselves of crude oil production.

Alluding to what he called "monopoly power," Shevin said, "by having the entire industry from beginning to end, the major companies set the condition by which prices can be controlled."

Chinese Fallout Not Detectable

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — The amount of radiation received in the United Sates from the Communist Chinese nuclear weapons test several weeks ago was too low to detect, the Atomic Energy Commission said yesterday.

China detonated a device with a yield of one to three megatons—up to three million tons of TNT—and the AEC since then has kept an eye on a high altitude air mass moving this country from the test area.

The mass has passed over the United States, and readings at monitoring stations were within the range of natural background" radiation — the ever present radiation produced from natural sources-the AEC said.

Cuts Sought In Drinking By Military

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon's chief doctor is trying to curtail "happy hours" to battle military drinking which is much heavier than among civilians, according to a new study.

Despite all the publicity given drug use, the study by a civilian firm operating on an Army contract found that drinking was heaviest among the young and then trailed off with increasing age — except for enlisted men.

Dr. Richard S. Wilbur, assistant defense secretary for health, told a news conference yesterday that to curb drunkenness among men in uniform he was trying to curtail the temptations. Liquor prices have been raised in military stores, "happy hours" cut back in Europe, and bar hours shortened during working hours.

Military rites that emphasize drinking have also been dropped including the "Prop Blast" parties that used to accompany graduations from parachute school.

The survey showed that binge drinking among civilians dropped from 19 per cent of men in their early twenties to only 6 per cent of civilians over 50. For officers in the same age groups, binge drinking fell from 24 per cent to 14 per cent. But for enlisted men it rose from 29 per cent to 37 per cent.

The study then asked — but could not answer the question — "Are heavy drinkers staying in the Army, or is the Army making men who stay in heavy drinkers?"

Communist Quits

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Dorothy Healey, 58, long time Communist leader, resigned from the party yesterday because of its failure to allow dissent from the ranks, she said.

Peace Corps Plane-Load Tells Of Forced Stopover In Uganda

KINSHASA, Zaire (UPI) — More than 100 Peace Corps volunteers, nearing their original destination at last, rested today and wrote letters home about their detention under guard in Uganda at the orders of President Idi Amin.

The 111 volunteers landed at Njili international airport yesterday after a flight from Uganda, where they were detained last Saturday because Amin said he wanted fellow African leaders to assure him the Americans were not mercenaries headed for the neighboring state of Rwanda.

President Joseph Mobutu sent that assurance Monday, clearing the way for the departure of the group.

When the volunteers arrived in Kinshasa, they were greeted by U.S. Ambassador Sheldon B. Vance and his wife, who boarded the plane and gave a brief welcoming speech.

"He said welcome to a friendly country, and I really don't remember the rest, we were so glad to land," said Mary E. Campbell, 21, of Seattle, Wash., who had joined the Peace Corps only 10 days earlier.

Miss Campbell said the group was taken through customs, then put aboard buses for two hotels where they were resting and writing about their adventure before moving to a Peace Corps training camp at the Zaire town of Bukavu either today or Wednesday.

Miss Campbell said the group did not know at the time why Amin ordered their chartered East African Airways VC10 to return to Entebbe, where the plane had stopped to refuel.

"We didn't find any of that out until we got here," she said. "They seemed to know more about it here, although there were some rumors floating around. The pilot just said he was turning back."

She said she saw only six armed guards when the plane returned to Entebbe and said she saw none after the group was moved to a lakeside hotel.

No one seemed concerned for his safety, Miss Campbell said, but "nobody was taking chances, because we just didn't know."

"We all thought we were perfectly safe," she said. "But the people outside, we weren't sure what they were hearing."

The group, already tired from the long flight that began last Friday night in London, remained in the Entebbe departure lounge until Sunday with no chance to clean up or rest easily. Then the volunteers were allowed to board the plane to get towels, toothpaste and soap.

They spent their time at the airport trying to sleep, or playing guitars and singing or writing letters.

Amin's action chilled the already icy relations between Uganda and the United States even more. Amin was criticized Thursday for a Fourth of July message he sent Nixon, wishing the President "a speedy recovery from the Watergate affair."

Reagan Kills Bill—But Orders Welfare Reform

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has vetoed a bill eliminating the requirement that adult children help support their elderly parents on welfare but announced changes which would reduce the size of some of the payments.

Reagan's sweeping administrative changes in the much criticized support law would have the effect of lowering the amount required to be paid by some of the children, state officials said.

In vetoing the measure (AB57) yesterday, Reagan said: "The general taxpaying public should not be asked to assume the burden of supporting parents whose children have the ability and legitimate responsibility to assist in meeting their needs."

Author of the bill was Assemblyman Joe A. Gonsalves, Gonsalves,La Mirada.

The law was enacted as a key part of the 1971 welfare "reform" package worked out among Reagan administration and legislative leaders.

In announcing changes in the operation of the law, Reagan said complaints about it have been directed at the way it was administered—not at its concept.

Reagan's changes in the program would:

Limit the amount the adult child is required to contribute to a prorated share based on the ability to pay of all the children in the family. Currently if two of three children failed to pay, the third is billed the full amount.

Expand hardship exemptions to include the full cost of medical and dental care, funeral expenses, educational expenses of the adult children and their youngsters and provide for other exemptions to be determined later.

Currently medical expenses must exceed 3 per cent of a family's monthly income before they qualify as a hardship. Payments to meet court judgments, garnishments, child support or alimony are also now exemptions.

Housing Decision Delayed In Tiburon; May Be Cut

By PAUL LIBERATORE

The Tiburon City Council last night postponed a decision on the adequacy of an environmental impact report prepared by the developer of a controversial housing project, but opponents of the report may have won major concessions in the project's density and design.

In the city's first appeal of an environmental impact report, spokesmen for about 20 residents claimed the city provided "little or no independent research" regarding the impact of the proposed Paradise Estates subdivision on Paradise Drive north of Trestle Glen Drive.

The expressed alarm at the number of homes planned on a scenic knoll, and concern that the road leading to the 19-unit single family development would pose a hazard to motorists on narrow Paradise Drive.

Justin Smith and Gary Widman, speaking for the protestors, also claimed the city did not give notice to nonresident owners of land adjoining the development before public hearings on the draft environmental impact report, and that there are not adequate sewage facilities to serve the area.

But City Atty. Robert Conn maintained that the report is "technically and legally sufficient," that the city acted lawfully in notifying neighboring residents and that the city reviewed the report and was told by service agencies, including the Tiburon Sanitary District, that the project would not overburden them.

In order "to avoid the expense of a lawsuit," developer David C. Mathew said he would consider reducing the project's density to 17 units by eliminating two homes planned for the knoll and building the remaining two on the side of the hillcrest, away from view.

Mathew said he also would consider protestors' views on the design of the intersection of Mateo Drive — the subdivision's access road — and Paradise Drive.

Upon suggestion of Councilman Albert Aramburu, councilmen indicated that they would deny the appeal, but only if final plans for the development include a maximum of 17 units and appropriate safety measures are incorporated in the design of the Mateo and Doyle Drive intersection.

Councilmen agreed to rule on the appeal at the council's next regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. July 23, at the same time they are to consider final plans for the project. Councilmen Albert H. Sennett and Allan N. Littman were absent.

In other action, councilmen set 3 p.m. July 20 for a public hearing on the environmental impact of a change in zoning for 102 acres between Hacienda Drive and San Francisco Bay.

Director of Community Development Richard G. Arjo has found that there would be no adverse environmental impact in rezoning the land from single-family residential to agricultural.

Owner Neill Smith plans to establish an environmental study school on the property, but has met with opposition from some neighboring residents who fear ecology experiments would be unsafe and that the project would encourage communal living.

If it is found after public hearing that the proposal poses no adverse impact on the environment, councilmen agreed to consider the rezoning and prezoning of the land, some of which is in county jurisdiction, July 23. First reading of the ordinance to change the zoning was approved by councilmen Feb. 26.

The Tiburon City Council also:

APPOINTMENTS — Appointed Dr. Angelo Cappozzi and Frank Herald to vacancies on the city parks and recreation commission.

SUBDIVISION — Approved a tentative map, precise plan and environmental impact report for an 8-lot residential development on Round Hill Road above Reed School by developer Barney Norwitt.

TENNIS COURTS — Approved the allocation of not more than $27,500 for construction of tennis courts at Del Mar School and authorized the mayor to work out an agreement with the Reed Union School District board regarding use of the court facilities.

OPEN SPACE — Repealed the city's open space moratorium, which would have expired in November, because new open space zoning ordinances make the building ban unnecessary. Second reading of the repeal ordinance is scheduled Aug. 23.

LANDMARKS — Passed on first reading a city law allowing for the preservation, acquisition and designation of historical landmarks in Tiburon.

RAILROAD — Renewed a use permit for Northwestern Pacific Railroad to use a parking lot at 1691 Tiburon Boulevard.

LIGHTS — Approved the expense of $68,420 in federal and city funds for installation of traffic signals at Tiburon Boulevard and Beach Road and at Avenida Miraflores.

ROAD — Accepted a small portion of right-of-way on Round Hill Road, dedicated to the city by C.W. Bird as a condition of approval of a subdivision.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. Monday in the city manager's office for budget hearings. The next regular council meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. July 23 in council chambers at city hall.

Guilty Plea In Purse Snatching

A San Rafael man yesterday admitted snatching a bag containing $150 from a San Rafael woman as she was about to deposit the money at a bank.

Edward Charles Griffin, 20, entered the guilty plea in the court of Municipal Judge Gary W. Thomas.

In exchange for the plea, entered as the result of a bargain between Griffin's attorney and the district attorney' office, Thomas promised to sentence Griffin to no more than nine months in County jail if he repays the money stolen from Joan M. Shattuck. The district attorney reduced the charge from robbery to grand theft.

Griffin will be sentenced July 16 in Marin Municipal Court.

San Franciscan Given Jail Term

A San Francisco man was sentenced yesterday to six months in Marin County Jail for auto theft by Judge David Menary Jr. of Marin Superior Court.

Alfred John Pedroni, 31, also was placed on two years probation by Menary. He had pleaded guilty to the auto theft charge after first being charged with burglary.

According to Sausalito police, Pedroni stole a car in San Francisco June 4 and was arrested in a restaurant parking lot that same day when officers noticed its license tab had been altered.

Water Problems To Be Discussed

The special meeting of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, Marin Municipal Water District and North Marin Municipal Water District boards, originally scheduled for June 27 will be held at 9 a.m., July 19 at the supervisor's chambers in the Civic Center.

The meeting was called to discuss water supply problems of both water districts.

Publisher's Wife Asks Dissolution

The wife of the publisher of the Terra Linda News and the San Rafael Pointer filed yesterday in Marin Superior Court to end their marriage of 14 years.

The petition filed by Judith S. Colby said irreconcilable differences developed in her marriage to Eric C. Colby, 35-year-old publisher of the two papers and the Marin County Buyline.

Mrs. Colby, who has worked as a photographer for her husband's publications, asked custody of the couple's daughters, Heather, 6, and Martine, 4, and financial support for them, but did not seek alimony.

The Colbys were married Dec. 27, 1958, in Westwood, Los Angeles County, but separated last Dec. 19, according to the petition. The family home is at 724 Appleberry Drive in Marinwood.

Signups Open In Summer Rec

San Anselmo's summer recreation program has openings in yoga, judo, guitar and antique repair classes, Gary S. Howell, parks and recreation director, said yesterday.

In addition, children may be enrolled in day camp, he said. A youth center program is also available at Robson Park, he said.

More information is available from the city parks and recreation department.

Mill Valley Schools Might Cut Tax Rate

The Mill Valley School District board last night approved a preliminary 1973-74 budget of $4,382,269, which could decrease the tax rate by eight cents from this year's rate of $3.60 per $100 assessed valuation.

According to Carroll D. Killingsowrth, director of district administrative services, the budget is $166,508 higher than this year's. But he said an increase in assessed valuation in the district could make the tax cut possible.

Killingsowrth said most of the increased spending would cover regular step raises for employees.

According to Patsy White, secretary to Supt. Peter Palches, the board also noted last night that it may have to give a cost-of-living raise to teaching and nonteaching employees this fall which has not yet been included in the budget.

Negotiations on the cost-of-living raise are now going on.

Trustees asked Palches to report on the cost of several programs where they might make cuts to allow for the raise. Among areas Palches will discuss are music, art, foreign language and multi-ethnic programs, Mrs. White said.

A final budget must be approved at a hearing Aug. 6.

Mrs. White said trustees also decided to select two special committees to help screen and interview prospective candidates for the job of principal of Mill Valley Middle School. The committees will include teachers, parents, a parent-teachers association representative, a nonteaching district employee, students and administrators.

On July 28 the board will interview the finalists selected by the committees and will pick the principal on Aug. 6, according to Mrs. White.

The board last night also elected John H. Cutler as its chairman and Joseph E. Bodovitz as its vice chairman.

Negotiations In Cambodia Hoped

WASHINGTON (UPI) — State Department officials say they hope the Cambodian insurgents will accept the offer to negotiate of President Lon Nol and agree to "an early cease-fire and national reconciliation."

Paul Hare, a department spokesman, also said yesterday the United States hoped that "interested members of the international community" would use their influence to promote negotiations.

Lon Nl in an announcement four days ago called for reconvening the International Control Commission and offered to name a delegation to meet with representatives of "the other side" to negotiate a truce and political settlement.

Today is Tuesday, July 10, the 191st day of 1973 with 174 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Mars, Jupiter and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury and Venus.

American painter James Whistler was born July 10, 1834.

On this day in history:

In 1938, American industrialist Howard Hughes and a crew of four flew around the world in 91 hours.

In 1953, Lavrenti Beria, Russian chief of internal security forces, was purged on charges of criminal anti-state activities.

In 1962, the Telstar satellite relayed television pictures from the United States to Europe . . . while Americans received clear pictures back from Britain and France.

In 1970, Communist China freed 79-year-old Roman Catholic Bishop James Edward Walsh after holding him prisoner for 12 years.

A thought for the day: Canadian physician William Osler said, "Tact is the saving virtue without which no woman can be a success."

A Ross School Trustee Resigns

Dr. Gwynn Thomson, a trustee of the Ross School District for the last two years, has resigned. With his family he will leave for Saudi Arabia this month, where he will run an emergency clinic in the mountainous Taif area for two years.

Ross district Superintendent Thomas Anderson said Thomson's resignation leaves a vacancy for the last two years of his four-year term. Interested candidates have until Sept. 7 to file at the county elections office for the November general election.

At last week's meeting of the Ross board, Justin L. Williams was elected president, and Sally Ann Rakow clerk. Betty Way was named trustee representative.

think I know the individual. I know his reaction to things. During the period of time I was in association with him and had telephone contact with him, I don't think he had that information."

"Based on your faith and knowledge of the man?" Dash asked.

"I do have faith in the President," Mitchell replied. "I do think I have knowledge of the man. I do think that in general discussions in the general area it would have come out if the President had knowledge."

Dash's questioning took the entire morning, as he pressed Mitchell on apparent conflicts in his testimony compared with earlier witnesses.

Dash: "Did you yourself, as the President's adviser and counselor, tell the President about what you, what you had learned (about the cover-up)?"

Mitchell: "No, sir, I did not."

Dash: "Why did you not?"

Mitchell: "Because I didn't believe that it was appropriate for him to have that type of knowledge, because I knew the actions that he would take and they would be most detrimental to his political campaign."

Dash: "Could it have been actually most helpful or healthy at this point?"

Mitchell: "That was not my opinion at the particular time. He was not involved. It wasn't a question of deceiving the public as far as Richard Nixon was concerned. There was the other people that were involved in connection with these activities, both with the White House horrors and the Watergate. I believe at that particular time — and maybe in retrospect I was wrong —but it occurred to me that the best thing to do was to keep the lid on through the election."

After the committee broke for lunch, two of its members said that Mitchell's testimony was in sharp contrast to that of several earlier witnesses, including Magruder and ousted White House Counsel John W. Dean III.

"We now have major conflicts in testimony —sort of getting into the nitty-gritty of the whole thing," said Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., the committee vice chairman.

Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., added: "Mr. Mitchell's testimony is directly contradictory to Dean and several other witnesses. There is no way one can be an expert on who's lying and who isn't. The American people will have to determine credibility."

Mitchell testified that on three occasions last year he rejected proposals for extensive spying on opposition Democrats, but he conceded that although he was the attorney general at the time, he neither fired nor had arrested the men who proposed them.

Woman Inducted In The National Guard

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — Lindsay Dornbush, who said it was the best part-time job she could find, became the first women to be inducted into the Virginia National Guard Monday.

Miss Dornbush, a 20-year-old Richmond resident, was sworn in by State Adjutant Gen. William McCadin.

Smog Board Not Tough Enough, Says Chairman

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The retiring chairman of the five-member state Air Resources Board says the board should be replaced by one administrator —"a czar."

"We are in a war and a committee can't run a war," Arie J. Haagen-Smith said yesterday. "You have to have a czar—a fellow who can make decisions."

Haagen-Smith, 72, who has headed the board since 1958, said he was not being critical of it but felt a change was needed to attack the wide range of related environmental problems now split among several state agencies.

Clothing Robbery In Strawberry

Marin County Sheriff's Deputies reported that three men today broke into a men's clothing store at the Town and Country Shopping Center in Strawberry and fled with several coats and jackets.

According to deputies, an alarm went off at about 2:19 a.m. after a window was smashed in the store, LeBeau Monde.

Nearby residents reported that about that time two men went by on foot while another got into a car and drove off. Deputies said that the men were described as being 18 to 20 years old and two of them were wearing green fatigue jackets.

Store managers have not yet decided what is missing from the store. Some coats were dropped as the men took off.

Angry Jews Hit Soviet Consulate With Red Paint

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Red paint was thrown on the door and the front of the Soviet Consulate early today and moments later a caller to United Press International took credit for the act.

The anonymous caller, who also called up other local news media, read a statement which repeatedly employed the phrase "never again," the motto of the militant Jewish Defense League.

The caller said "we shall continue to use all and every kind of protest ... until our brothers in the Soviet Union are free to go home, home to Israel."

Police said about four bags of paint hit the front door and a fifth hit the front to the right of the door.

would probably be valid, according to town Atty. Wallace S. Myers.

However, an informal poll of persons who had attended the design meeting indicated the action had been taken a few minutes before midnight on the 14th, thus nullifying Hamilton's appeal.

City Mgr. Robert E. Crowe and design review chairman Lee A. Eckles agreed the board action had come shortly before midnight — "at 11:30 p.m.," according to Crowe.

Hamilton's three-page appeal of the impact report's acceptance criticized the traffic analysis and the land density estimates used in the report. He cited 10 specific points of argument with the report, ranging from a question of the validity of the time of year when traffic studies were made, to the possibility of a water shortage if the project were completed.

Although voting 3-1 (Councilman Frank J. Egger against, and Councilman Lee Nelder absent) not to consider Hmilton's appeal as valid, council members were generally sympathetic to what Councilman Albert E. Gately called "a detailed appeal." He said that when the planning commission considers the final plans for the project on July 26, it should take close note of the points Hamilton raised in his argument.

Hamilton himself was not pleased with the council's adherence to strict technical procedures. "I felt that the thrust of my appeal was valid, and I want to pursue it in any possible way," he said.

Encouraged by murmurs of approval from the large crowd in attendance at the Fairfax Women's Club, he continued, "I am rather disenchanted with technicalities. The council's action skirts the real issue at hand."

Egger, in opposing the appeal rejection, said, "It seems that the will of the townspeople has been thwarted throughout this project. I don't see citizens standing here saying, 'This is a good project.'" His statements were followed by enthusiastic applause from the audience.

Had Hamilton's appeal been deemed valid, Crowe said, the council would have conducted a special hearing last night to weigh the appeal's merits. The council could have overruled the design review board's decision, and thrown a major block to the project's completion, he said.

Gately prefaced his vote to disapprove the appeal by saying, "I'm sorry, but we have to do this." Councilman Robert R. Souza concurred, saying it was unfortunate that such a well-thought argument was tripped up on a technicality.

Siamese Twin Fights For Life

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Siamese twin girl, separated from her sister Saturday in a complicated seven-hour operation, was in critical condition today, hospital spokesmen said.

The 3-month old girl, identified only as Mildred, has been on the critical list at Downstate Medical Center since surgeons performed the separating operation.

White House Denies Tricia Is Pregnant

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House yesterday said rumors that President Nixon's daughter Tricia Cox is pregnant were unfounded. But Tricia herself avoided making a personal response to newsmen's queries on the report.

Pat Nixon's press secretary, Helen MacCaine Smith, said yesterday there was "no basis for the report" in the Washington Star-News that Nixon would become a grandfather.

Soledad Brother Arrested On Parole Charge

COMPTON (AP) — Former "Soledad Brother" John Clutchette has been arrested and accused of violating parole by allegedly being photographed with firearms, authorities report.

Clutchette was paroled last November after he and Fleeta Drumgo were acquitted in March 1972, in the slaying of a Soledad Prison guard in 1970.

If parole is revoked, the former black convict could be returned to prison for the remaining 2½ years of a 10-year 1966 burglary sentence.

Police said parole authorities arrested Clutchette June 28 at his warehouse job in Compton, after they had been given a photo purportedly showing Clutchette wearing shorts and displaying a semiautomatic rifle, a pistol in a shoulder holster and a small derringer-type pistol hooked in his fly.

Voiceprint As Evidence

". . .So when we grab the Literature Building and give it back to the People, we're going on downtown and firebomb City Hall. It's gonna be a real peaceful demonstration, so long as nobody tries to stop us."

These may not have been the exact words, but a campus demonstrator did find himself in court through his interview with TV cameramen. True, his back was to the camera. He couldn't be visually identified. But the district attorney had the sound track examined by experts. The experts made a "voiceprint." They told the court that the jiggles on the graph matched only one person in the world —and the man was arrested.

In 1968, a California appeal court threw out evidence like this. Voiceprinting, it said, had "not yet acquired the degree of scientific acceptance that allowed the courts to recognize it."

But a similar case arose five years later. The city had filed a suit against several landowners because it needed their land. One of the owners got a call that may have gone something like this:

"Mr. Smith, this is Sam Slie. I'm a juror in that suit that's pending against you. I might vote for a good verdict for you, if you can do something for me."

"What do you have in mind?" Smith asked, quietly hooking up his tape recorder and turning it on. And Sam suggested a figure he thought might be nice.

Smith turned the tape recording of Sam's voice over to the police, who arrested Sam and charged him with attempted bribery.

Again the district attorney offered voiceprint evidence. He had two experts testify. Each said their studies showed the voice belonged to Sam. One expert was a professor of speech science and audiology, and had a doctorate in physics. He'd written extensively in audiology and phonetics, and had worked on voiceprint identification for seven years. testing and experimenting.

This time the court said the voiceprint evidence as presented was scientifically reliable enough to be allowed.

Innocent Plea In Speed Charge

A Boyes Hot Springs man alleged to have sold 1,000 amphetamine tablets to an undercover narcotics officer in May pleaded innocent yesterday to charges of selling the drug.

Following the plea of Steven James Irons, 23, Judge Gary W. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court set a preliminary hearing for July 17.

Irons was charged in an arrest warrant with selling the tablets to an agent in Los Ranchitos, but he was not caught until Thursday, when San Rafael Police questioned him near the Bermuda Palms Motel on Francisco Boulevard and discovered the warrant.

Larkspur Planners Will Study Housing

The Larkspur Planning Commission will meet at 7:30 p.m. today in city hall for a study session on a housing element to be included in the city's revised general plan.

Commissioners will start their regular meeting at 8 p.m., when the agenda includes a request for a use permit for a temporary trailer court near 2000 Redwood Highway and regulations for slope and hillside development in Larkspur.

American dollars held steady on Hong Kong's markets today. In Tokyo the dollar regained the eight yen it lost yesterday and closed at 262.10 yen.

"Last night we heard that Washington might support the dollar on foreign exchange markets," a bank official said in Paris.

"Well, by this morning the United States had made no move," he said. "But there is still that chance of intervention, so it has helped the dollar."

An American banker in Frankfurt credited reports of possible government intervention for the dollar-pound gains, but cautioned:

"I would not read too much into it, because the market is very sensitive these days."

gineering, both are served through an agreement with the North Marin County Water District in whose territory they lie.

Stroeh said Marin Municipal and North Marin districts are currently working out an arrangement by which North Marin would supply the central Marin district with the same amount of water as the shopping center and trailer park use, about 55 acre feet a year.

Flood Building Law Will Be Rewritten

The Novato City Council last night ordered its interim ordinance prohibiting building on the flood plain rewritten to change the description of storms to be guarded against.

The ordinance now calls for basing control measures on floods produced by a storm of such magnitude as might occur once in 50 years.

When rewritten it will call for a latitude of 10-to-50-year storm magnitude in figuring what should be constructed on the flood plain, according to Clifford E. Temps, Public Works Director.

Ladybug Park Plan Revised

The Rohnert Park Recreation Commission last night revised plans for Ladybug Park and added two tennis courts to the layout.

Recreation director James Pekkain said the commission approved revisions in the layout in order to make room for the tennis courts and additional parking spaces.

Pekkain said the location of the little league diamond and concession stand was also shifted to permit more open space around it.

The commission set Aug. 5 for a field trip to parks and pools in Fremont, Newark and Sunnyvale.

Pay Impasse Is Delaying Fairfax Budget Approval

The impasse between town negotiators and bargaining representatives of Fairfax police officers and firemen is virtually all that is keeping the town's proposed $807,453 budget for 1973-74 from adoption, the Fairfax Town Council learned last night. (Another Fairfax Town Council story, page 1.)

City Administrator Robert E. Crowe's budget has been thoroughly reviewed with only minor changes over the past month, and police and fire wages and benefits are the only major item still undecided.

Richard H. Breiner, attorney for the Fairfax Police Officer's Association, said the gap between the town's pay offer and the countywide average is large. "Far from being 'in the ballpark' (as Crowe said last week) we're in the bleachers," he said. A 7.8 per cent salary hike would be needed to put Fairfax policemen at the county average.

Crowe said the council had offered about a 7.5 per cent package increase, a figure that includes fringe benefits.

Mayor E. Ross Parkerson designated Councilmen Albert E. Gately and Robert R. Souza to act on behalf of the council in an open session tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the town hall. If an agreement can be reached then, the council may adopt the budget in a meeting July 16 at 8 p.m. in the Fairfax Women's Club.

Negotiations with the firemen are closer to completion, Parkerson said. A spokesman for the Fairfax Firemen's Association said the group had not yet taken action on the council's latest offer.

Crowe's budget figure of $807,453 does not include a settlement for the police and fire employees beyond the 5 per cent cost of living raise already granted. It also does not include special adjustment of the salaries of the two top officers in each of the two departments. Consideration of those proposals will come July 16.

The tax rate for the town is now the same as last year, $1.69 per $100 assessed valuation. This figure could go up by about 10 cents, however, depending on the arrangement to be approved by the council on bond repayments.

Souza defended Crowe against charges made last week by Mel L. Dollahite, police association president. "We're at this impasse because demands are firm on both sides," not because the administrator has been negotiating in bad faith, Souza said.

Grass Fire Ties Up 101 With Heavy Smoke

A smoky grass fire in Marin City at rush hour yesterday caused traffic to back up on Highway 101 from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m.

Burning 1250 square feet of area behind 221 Drake Avenue, the fire sent heavy white smoke across the highway forcing drivers to stop or slow down during the critical commuting period.

A spokesman for the California Highway Patrol said that while some traffic stoppage was reported, bus lanes remained open.

County firemen brought the blaze under control quickly and said it was caused by children playing with matches.

Highway patrol reports showed no accidents as a result of the slowdown in traffic.

Pair Sought As Missing Heirs

Two Marin residents of 1952 are being sought by a San Francisco investigating firm as missing heirs.

Ruby V. Chapman or A. P. Nordskott, both Bolinas residents in the early 1950s, are heirs to more than $1,500, according to William Greene of the American Equities Group.

Greene said information can be sent to him at P.O. Box 27246, San Francisco.

Jury Deadlocks In Forgery Case

A jury in Marin Superior Court was unable to reach a verdict yesterday in the case of Joseph Kaufman, charged with forgery and attempted grand theft.

Judge E. Warren McGuire sent the panel home after it reported it was deadlocked 10-2 following nearly two days of deliberation. McGuire did not say whether the majority favored conviction or acquittal.

A new trial date will be set Aug. 6. Kaufman, 43, of no fixed address, is accused of assuming another man's identity and opening an account with another man's identification at a Bank of America branch.

Annex Of Deer Park To Fairfax Started

The Fairfax Town Council last night began proceedings to annex to the city approximately 58 acres containing Deer Park and Deer Park School.

The council voted unanimously to instruct City Attorney Wallace S. Myers to commence the annexation process, in a meeting during which a long string of residents supported the proposal.

The county, the Marin Municipal Water District and Fairfax School District have indicated to City Administrator Robert E. Crowe that they would support the annexation.

If annexed, the area would be served by the Fairfax Police and Fire Departments instead of the distant Marin County Fire and Sheriff's Departments now used.

This would be particularly important in event of an emergency at Deer Park School, according to Fairfax school superintencent H. Reginald Hammond.

The annexation had come before the board twice in the past, but for a variety of insignificant reasons, no action was taken, Crowe said.

The Fairfax Town Council Also:

ROADS — Agreed to a six-month trial period designating a one-block section of Tamalpais Road as one-way going downhill, as soon as repairs on Scenic Road are completed. The suggestion was made by a group of Tamalpais Road homeowners to cut dangerous passing that occurs in the 14-foot wide cliffside road.

OPEN-SPACE — Instructed Councilmen Gately and Egger to investigate potential open space purchases by the town, including a two-acre parcel recently offered for sale by the Jane Forster Realtors off Canyon Road.

BUS — Continued for another six months a subsidy of $125 per month to Louis Puccinelli, operator of the Fairfax Bus Depot.

BEAUTIFICATION — Referred to the planning commission a proposal by Gerald E. Brown of the Fair-Anselm Shopping Center to plant trees along Center Boulevard by the center.

TRAFFIC — Voted to remove a concrete traffic island at the Sir Francis Drake Boulevard-Olema intersection, and to install reflector buttons and painted lines instead.

SENIOR CITIZENS — Authorized the mayor to execute a joint powers agreement for a renewal of the current senior citizen's recreation program with the county.

PLANNING — Appointed Adelaide P. Wilson as an alternate representative to the City-County Planning Commission.

ENCROACHMENT — Approved use and encorachment permits for construction at the Ray Wilson property, 196 Tamalpais Road.

SUBDIVISION — Referred to city attorney for research a proposal to revise "automatic acceptance" clause in ordinance that provides that if no action on a subdivision matter is taken in 30 days, the request is automatically approved.

PAY — Approved a step increase for Police Officer Steven Geoghegan, to the second step on the regularly scheduled salary plan.

GASOLINE — Agreed to join with Marin County in purchasing gasoline and diesel fuel for 1973-74. The cost of gasoline will be 26.5 cents a gallon, up six cents a gallon over last year.

DRAINAGE — Approved plans for drainage improvements on Meernaa Avenue at a cost of approximately $23,000. The item had been budgeted for $25,000.

SETTLEMENT — Agreed to pay Underground Construction Company, Inc., $1,000 for resurfacing an under estimated one-half mile section of Olema Road. The company had filed a suit for $1,647, but agreed to settle for the smaller amount.

ORDINANCES — Adopted new ordinances restricting excavations without a permit to 100 cubic yards; restricting tree-cutting without a permit to trees less than 24 inches in circumference; and required a $15 nonrefundable appeal fee for any appeals from a town agency.

GARAGE DENIED — Unanimously refused James Drake of Mill Valley and Robert Bayless of San Anselmo permission to build a garage now (they plan to build a house in about two years, when they have the money) on their residential lot at 94 Toyon Drive, the council holding that a garage must be an ancillary use to residential use and can be built only in conjunction with building of a house.

Lumber Lot Approved For Novato

The Novato Planning Commission last night approved a variance and precise development plan for a lumber and building materials retail outlet west of Highway 101 south of Ford Way within the Novato auto mart area.

Hubbard and Johnson Lumber Co. requested the building materials retail store for the area which city ordinance prohibits building because the land is subject to flooding. This required a variance.

The Novato Planning Commission also:

TRAILS — Approved the trails element of the Novato General Plan which includes horse and bicycle trails both within the city and in the adjacent areas.

MAP — Approved a tentative map of San Marin Green unit 2 for Kaufman and Broad. This application was for 142 lots on approximately 22 acres south of San Marin Drive and west of San Carlos Way.

TACO BELL — Denied an appeal from the plan review committee's details of architectural plans for a Taco Bell restaurant across Machin Avenue from the Novato Community House and north of the Pizza Hut restaurant for the five Star Development Co.

TRIPLEX — Approved precise development plans for a triplex apartment on the west side of Novato Boulevard between Cypress Court and Boulevard Terrace for Frank Perachiotti.

CONTINUED — Continued until 8 p.m., July 23 at the Novato Community House consideration of an application by Kenneth Rosenberg for parking at the Cinema II theater at 5390 Redwood Highway and a variance for the Warner Creek Apartments construction which is denied by an interim ordinance prohibiting construction in the flood plain.

Burglar Ordered To Drug Program

A San Rafael man who admitted burglarizing a San Rafael home was sentenced yesterday to enter a drug rehabilitation program.

Marin Superior Court Judge David Menary Jr. Also sentenced Charles Drago, 23, to four months in Marin County Jail, but suspended that sentence if Drago completes the six-month drug program in San Jose.

The sentence — part of a plea bargain worked out last month in Marin Municipal Court — came after Drago admitted entering the Wallace Peters home on Grand Avenue May 27 and stealing, among other items, a television set which he pawned two days later. The set then was traced to him.

Smoke Testing Is Scheduled Of Sewer Lines

San Rafael Department of Public Works will begin smoke tests of the city's sanitary sewer collection system this week in an effort to plug unauthorized connections that bring surface water into the sewer lines.

Norris M. Rawles, public works director, said the testing will start tomorrow in the Gerstle Park area of San Rafael. "We will be conducting the tests all summer and ask the people's cooperation because the unauthorized connections are bringing surface water into the sewer lines and over-taxing the system," said Rawles. He said the smoke used in the tests is non-toxic and harmless.

Notices are being hand-carried to homes in the Gerstle Park area to let them know about the coming tests.

African Republic Ambassador Named

WASHINGTON (UPI) — William N. Dale, a foreign service veteran from Santa Fe, N.M., has been named ambassador to the Central African Republic.

Sen. Pete Domenici, R-N.M., said Dale had been informed of his appointment by the White House.

Youth Authority Sentence Given

A San Rafael man who was linked to the burglary of a residence in that city through a fingerprint he left on a window at the home was sentenced to a term with the California Youth Authority yesterday.

Barry Royal Hier, 20, received the sentence from Judge David Menary Jr. of Marin Superior Court, who earlier had promised the youth authority commitment in a plea bargain in return for Hier's admission of guilt.

Hier admitted taking guns, a credit card, a radio and $200 from the Joel Wolfson home on Esmeyer Drive last Dec. 24.

Added Inducement For Car Pooling

Campaigns to encourage carpooling over the Golden Gate Bridge has never caught on because each driver is reluctant to give up his mobility and convenience for the sake of a few pennies saved.

An added inducement, however, is now being added with the current energy crisis in general and the gasoline shortage in particular.

In addition to easing the daily commuter congestion over Highway 101, car pools can cut travel time, conserve and save money. But they cannot do any of these unless people are willing to work to make them effective.

A RECENT STUDY by the Highway Users Federation provides many good incentives for getting people into carpools. Research shows that the private automobile with only the driver in the car is the most expensive of all means of surface transportation available to commuters. Cost of a typical 10-mile trip to downtown in urban areas of over a million population is $2.64. The same trip made by four people in a carpool costs only 66 cents per person. A slightly crowded six-person carpool cuts the cost to 44 cents.

ECONOMIC SAVINGS are but one aspect of the direct advantages to commuters offered by carpooling. According to the Highway Users Federation, studies show that in major metropolitan areas, the average automobile occupancy for work trips to downtown during rush hour is now 1.6 persons per vehicle. If automobile occupancy could be increased from the present average to 2 persons per vehicle, 20 per cent of the motor vehicles would be removed from rush hour traffic. Comparable reductions would be realized in the amount of fuel consumed.

PERHAPS THE strongest incentive for carpools, as an ease to transportation problems, is their simplicity of setup and operation. There is no need for elaborate administrative organizations or expenditures for new equipment and facilities.

Carpools are individual citizens co-operating with each other, a means by which people can deal with a national problem at a grass roots level — and with visible results.

Where companies and organizations want to get involved, they can encourage car pools by providing incentives such as preferred or free parking to carpoolers. Governments and toll authorities can become involved by encouraging vehicles with multiple occupants through reduced tolls.

The inconveniences and restriction of mobility for the carpooler are more than offset by economic and social advantages.

Male Chauvinist Crickets

Marin's hills will soon resound with the orchestrations of tens of thousands of crickets.

Only the male chirps, calling the female to his side with a precise rhythm which varies from species to species. The cricket is genetically programmed to make his particular kind of music, just as his female is genetically programmed to respond. But to a cricket, it is all doubtless very romantic. And even humans can be moved by the music of the crickets of a quiet summer's evening.

Counties Keep Spending By Socking It To Taxpayer

Earl G. Waters

Of more than passing interest to property owners throughout the state, should be the current budgetary problems being experienced by the Sacramento County Supervisors.

This esteemed body has suddenly come face to face with a fact of life known to every wage earner and most other citizens. Simply stated, it is the axiom that you can't spend more than you earn.

THE THING IS, those charged with the responsibility of running government, at all levels, do not often come face to face with the necessity of observing the rule. They usually can increase their capacity to spend by socking it to the taxpayers to meet their expenditures.

So, if there was one thing worthwhile produced by the so-called "tax reform" passed by the Legislature last year, it was the curb on local property taxes imposed by the bill.

TAX REFORM HAS been bandied about by the Legislature for years. Like the wather, everyone talked about it but nobody ever did anything about it. At least not in the last four decades. But late last year, after all kinds of bitter arguments, compromises, gamesmanship maneuvering and arm twisting, there was passed what some of the more ambitious leaders chose to call a "tax reform".

It was really a tax shift with the state assuming a greater role in school financing and agreeing to provide more funds for local government in return for larger property tax exemptions on homes. To finance this largesse, state taxes, mostly the sales tax, were upped.

ONE OF THE big hangups during the two years of squabbling over the measure was the issue of imposing a property tax limitation on local government. Speaker Bob Moretti, who posed as the Messiah of tax relief, was perfectly willing to raise state taxes to subsidize local goverment but balked at limiting their ability to continue the spiraling of property taxes.

Governor Reagan, however, having been once bitten was twice shy. He had approved increased state support for local governments early in his first term only to see the intended savings for property owners quickly eroded by expanded spending. He hung tough for controls and ultimately prevailed. Moretti, anxious to claim credit for increasing state aid to local schools and other local government, caved in when he was forced to the conclusion that Reagan really had "his feet in concrete" on this issue.

SACRAMENTO COUNTY in its budget preparations is discovering that it can't spend as much as it would like. Despite federal revenue sharing, increased state support and what not, it can't meet its proposed budget. This because it can't raise property tax rates. Too bad. All that's left to do now is trim its spending. It is almost a conclusive presumption that most other local governmental agencies around the state are facing the same truth. Thanks to Governor Reagan.

The whole thing points out very well what has been happening in local government to the property owners. Nobody has been trying very hard to keep the budgets down.

Sacramento County is in its dilemma despite a fortuitous 25 per cent reduction of its employes as a result of a state takeover of the county hospital. And also dspite increased revenues resulting from new construction and property value reassessments.

THIS LATTER will always serve to up the property owners tax bill even with the ceiling on tax rates. As the Governor will learn, his noble efforts on behalf of property owners will continue to be partly undermined until someone figures a way to hold the line on valuations as well as rates, or an alternative such as separate treatment of single residence property is invoked.

Drive By Observing, Not Through Habit

Stop signs. In answer to Mr. Mestre, you or me or us are driving by habit. If we were more observing we would not had gone through the stop signs.

Twenty five years ago the traffic engineer in Denver cured many of us on habit driving. How? Without warning he would put up stop signs at any corner or even in the middle of the block where the alley crossed the street with a policeman to give a ticket for running a stop sign, no excuse. His answer: Had you been observing, you would have seen the stop sign.

All of us should be driving by observing instead of habit. I observe a sign one day, the next day I drove through it, habit. This traffic engineer would never leave the sign there more than two or three days, then poof the sign was gone.

'Enemies List' Indicates White House Inefficiency

(Reprinted from Wall Street Journal)

Among the debris falling out of the White House at the Watergate hearings is the list of Nixon administration "enemies." It has set presumably serious people to talking of how close we have come to being a "police state."

Now, it is of course reprehensible that White House officials, allegedly including the President, should want to use the Internal Revenue Service and other government agencies to attack these enemies. And some of the results, as described by our John Pierson, are a telling commentary on White House pettiness. Still, fortunately, it takes more than bad intentions and cold shoulders to make a police state. Since it is not apparent that anything particularly important happened as a result of the list, we seem to have been saved by White House inefficiency.

Which is not surprising if you look at the list itself. Our first impression is to wonder why any Republican administration would need a list to remind itself that, say, Democratic presidential contenders are political enemies. But this mystery is cleared up when one reads the list to discover that Joe Namath is with the New York Giants and Hans Morgenthau is a former U.S. attorney in New York City. The media list includes Max Lerner, who must be the gentlest enemy anyone ever had, but omits Herblock, perhaps because he finally gave the President a shave.

After reading the list, we worry less about the danger that our governors are dictatorial than about the danger that our governors are silly. What a way for grown men to spend their time.

Those most frenetic about the disclosure, though, seem to us intent on matching the White House example in this respect. When they calm down, they ought to spend a little time reading The Federalist Papers, instructive for anyone but especially for someone who worries about police states. The way to avoid dictatorial governments, the readers would learn, is not to rely on governors not having evil intentions, but to structure institutions in such a way as to prevent governors from carrying out such intentions when they arise. Among the methods of doing this is something called checks and balances.

As to whether American institutions still function in the way the Founding Fathers intended, consider John Dean's testimony on how he went about getting a tax audit when suspicions arose about an enemy's financial affairs. In this police state, it seems, the counsel for the White House was afraid to call up the head of the IRS with such a request. But Mr. Dean knew someone who had friends in the IRS who could help. It turns out their help was coaching on how to phrase an anonymous letter giving the tax collectors a tip.

Or in other words, in trying to carry out a vendetta, the White House with all its pump and glory is reduced to the same level as any other grubby infighter; sending an anonymous letter. Or to put a better face on it, to doing its civic duty in providing the IRS with the kind of information for which the laws provide an informer's reward.

Some police state.

THE NEEDLE

By HAROLD COFFIN

Office workers need "chatter breaks" and "exercise breaks" in addition to their traditional coffee breaks, psychologists tell us.

Workers are so busy drinking coffee during coffee breaks they don't get a chance to chatter with each other. This, we assume, is especially true of psychologists.

The suggestion for calisthenic breaks seems to indicate that nobody works hard enough at his job these days to get sufficient exercise to stay healthy.

When the hired help finally gets programmed with breaks for coffee, exercise and chatter, bosses will have to introduce one more time-out, a break during which employes can do some work.

Limit Campaign Contributions To Eliminate Electoral Farce

WASHINGTON — Escaping to the mountains and the seashore for a week's interval, members of Congress have a chance to reflect on what lies ahead. They will have an opportunity soon to strike a blow at the most corrupting of all evils uncovered during the past two months.

That is massive campaign spending.

A measure coming to the Senate floor from the Commerce Committee would put a limit on spending for election to all federal offices of 25 cents for each voter. For presidential elections this would be roughly a total of $15 million. That compares with the $50 million Maurice Stans boasted he raised for the Committee to Re-Elect the President.

BUT THE BILL has a serious flaw. No limit is put on what a candidate running for nomination for President can spend. In the past this has been one of the sinkholes of big money coming from contributors anticipating favors if their man makes it.

What is more, the spending limit in the bill is too high and the Senate can do something about that when it comes up. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D.-Tex., has introduced amendments setting an over-all absolute limit of $3,000 on contributions from any individual to a candidate for federal elective office in both primary and general elections. This would be backed up by criminal penalties for violators.

A SECOND BENTSEN amendment would require that contributions of $100 or more be made in a check or other written instrument. This would prevent the packaging of $100 bills, such as passed from one dubious source or another to the Nixon campaign committee. The Vesco affair was one of the most notorious examples of under-the-counter cash. The Rules Committee at first rejected the second amendment as possibly unconstitutional, since it proscribed the use of U.S. currency, but it was later restored.

Bentsen knows in these matters what he is talking about. In his campaign for the Senate in 1970 running in the primary against the incumbent Democrat, Ralph W. Yarborough, he was accused of spending vast amounts of money, much of it his own from his extensive business interests. He says that in his two campaigns, the primary and in the general election against Republican George Bush, he acutally spent between $1.7 million and $1.8 million. From a moneyed background Bush could also draw on large resources. Yarborough had the comparatively small contribution of organized labor.

THE VOTE ON the Bentsen amendments whould be given the closest scrutiny. Here is a way to close the door on the profligacy that has made a farce of the electoral process. In a Senate speech Bentsen called for a ceiling established by law not only on total campaign budgets but on specific items such as media advertising, direct-mail spending and even travel expenses.

"It is not enough," Bentsen said, "to put a ceiling on spending. We have to specify a ceiling on individual contrubitions as well. Is there any hope for democracy when one man — though he professes the purest motives — can contribute $1 million to a single campaign? The average citizen may well ask himself, 'What is my dollar worth stacked up against a million?' "

THE CHAMPION NIXON contributor is Chicago's Clement Stone. He acknowledges contributions up to $2 million, and with a noble selflessness he says he wanted nothing. That was not true of others among the big-money contributors who were putting it on the line for ambassadorial appointments and other less showy but more lucrative rewards out of a second term.

The spending controls in a new law will not apply to state elections. In New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller is readying his campaign to run next year for a fifth term. Estimates of what he spent in 1970 vary from $15 million to $20 million. His stepmother, the late Mrs. John D. Rockfeller Jr., gave hime $1.4 million on which she paid a gift tax of $900,000, an act of exceptional honesty in light of the scandalous finagling with the most contributions in this stratospheric bracket. Surely Rockefeller will now, regardless of what the state legislature may impose with respect to spending limits, put a brake on his prodigality.

The height of the Nixon spending spree was marked by the indictment of two former Nixon Cabinet members. Congress can not put an end to this disgraceful money wallow.

ERWIN D. CANHAM

Nixon Must Lead Way Toward Higher Standard of Behavior

In 1970, the Scranton Commission on Campus Unrest, of which I was a member, told President Nixon, who had appointed us, that he should exercise moral leadership in order to cope with the causes of counter-cultural tumult then under way. The President gave every evidence of being displeased with this aspect of our advice.

At about the same time, other advisers to the President were giving very different advice, as has now been revealed by official documents presented to the Senate Select Committee. Others favored wire tapping, burglary, espionage, harassment, and in one case the use of "thugs" against a lone demonstrator, according to John Dean.

SOME OF THESE advisers evidently perceived the student revolt as subversion supported by foreign enemies, and they equated many of the domestic protesters — especially critics of the Vietnam War — with these foreign enemies. They called it treason. Thus they justified waging a kind of war against these domestic critics, with any sort of tactics permitted under the claim of "national security."

Most of us will agree, as did the Scranton Commission, that there is a tiny hard-core of foreign-supported Communist infiltration in some activist movements. But even the F.B.I. with J. Edgar Hoover's intense preoccupation with Communist danger, did not assess this as a primary factor in student unrest or anti-war activity in or since 1970.

THE EQUATING OF political opponents or social rebels with "the enemy" is a profoundly corrosive state of mind. It gives "Communism" far more apparent power than it possesses domestically. And it seems to validate tactics which are in the end self-defeating. It infects the body politic with the same symptoms it seeks to destroy. It blinds its possessors to their own crimes.

WHAT THE UNITED States needs today, to move out of the racking trauma through which it is passing, is the emergence of credible moral leadership. If President Nixon is to fill this gap I believe he can do so only on the basis of absolute candor, admission of past mistakes of commission and omission, and clear evidence that he has learned the lessons of Watergate and all that went with it.

All the facts are still not in and we must not prejudge, but enough is known to suggest there must be higher standards of political behavior in the White House, a more open and less isolated President, greater respect for the Cabinet officers as colleagues and advisers, and greater cooperation with the Congress and response to its emphatic judgments. In short a better sense of what is and what is not right and decent even when fighting evil forces but especially when coping with legitimate political and social dissent.

IT SEEMS HIGHLY unlikely that President Nixon will think it right to resign, or that Congress will impeach him. But it is self-evident that he is tragically in need of rehabilitation, and the country and the world desperately needs respected American leadership. Only the President himself can lay the groundwork for his rehabilitation. Difficult as it may be, it may still be possible. It will not come through more defensiveness but extenuating facts should be made clear as soon as possible. Rehabilitation will not come through slick rationalizing, or diversion. The issues, and they are essentially moral, will have to be faced and confidence re-won through honest awareness of the need for reform and the determination to carry it out.

Long, Hot Summer Forecast In Cotati's Recall Battle

The recall election may still be two months away in Cotati, but already the contest is shaping up as one of the most bitter in local history.

Neither side seems willing to put off its campaign for later in the summer, although the election won't be held until Sept. 4.

Supporters of the three younger councilmen under attack have already put out campaign literature and yave organized under the title of "Citizens For The Preservation Of Cotati."

STRANGELY ENOUGH, citizens working to oust the Sonoma State College graduates could also take the same title since they claim to be preserving the essence of Cotati. Seems like it will depend on what the voters consider worth preserving.

Surely by the end of the summer all 1,500 residents will be forced to choose up sides. In small communities it seems impossible to stay out of local feuds.

CITY MGR. Paul W. Salfen also added fuel to the fire when he announced his resignation coupled with the threat to run for a city council seat next November should the recall be successful. Since he has become the focal point of the feud between old and young, Salfen's candidacy would make for an interesting election.

Supporters of Geoffrey Dunham, Annette Lombardi and Stephen Laughlin insist they will draw support from old and young alike as they did when elected in April of 1972.

SALFEN, AN easy-going pipe smoker who rarely raises his voice, surprised many with his resignation and the bitter tone in his farewell letter. Despite constant clashes with the three councilmen, they and Salfen have always maintained an outwardly pleasant relationship.

Salfen is particularly bitter about the possibility of being replaced by Police Chief Thomas Gray. Salfen strongly opposed Gray's hiring and has had open conflict with him since. The young councilmen insist that Gray has not been promised Salfen's job.

ANOTHER CAUSE of Salfen's bitterness is that the stress of the situation has been hard on his wife, who has been hospitalized recently. He claims the stress has contributed to her ill health and even mentions the possibility of suing the city.

The conflict is sure to get even hotter as the summer wears on and both sides go about "saving" Cotati. One can only hope the town can survive such good intentions.

ART BUCHWALD

Dogs Must Tighten Their Belts In This Hour Of Food Crisis

WASHINGTON — Just before we get used to digesting the energy crisis, we are informed that we face a food crisis because of the recent price freeze.

The food producers say they can't sell food at the prices the government wants them to without losing money.

Before we all starve to death, I think it's about time someone said something about a subject that has been taboo in this country for more than 10 years. And that is the large amount of food that is going to dogs and cats in this nation rather than to human beings.

IF YOU WATCH television at all, you will realize that almost every other TV commercial is devoted to dog or cat food. And if you believe the message these commercials are sending out, the various dog and cat food companies are providing the best beef, the tastiest chicken and the most delicious fish in their products to satisfy the gourmet taste of the pet population of America. The food they advertise looks so good that my mouth starts salivating every time I see a dog or cat digging into a plate of his favorite name-brand dish.

When this country had enough food to go around, there was no reason to object to all the fancy pet foods filling up the shelves of our supermarkets. But if we are to believe the food doomsayers, then we're going to have to take the food away from the dogs and cats in order to survive.

A GENERATION ago, before the dogs and cats got sucked into convenience foods, Americans fed their pets leftovers and scraps from the table. The dogs and cats were part of the family, waiting patiently for whatever we would toss them.

They were good dogs and they were good cats and weren't spoiled as they are today. When you gave a dog a bone he was grateful and would lick your hand. When you put a fish head on a cat's plate, he meowed with glee. These dogs and cats grew up healthy, strong and filled with the American ethic that you can't get something for nothing. You were proud to call them your pets and they were grateful to call you their masters.

BUT SINCE THE advent of canned dog food, frozen dog burgers, instant chow and the rest, the pet population in this country has changed. They're spoiled rotten by the affluent society. They eat the costly packaged foods and then growl at you afterwards. They are careless in their toilet habits and walk around with long hair. They think the world owes them a living. They don't know what it is to beg for a dog biscuit or an almost-spoiled can of sardines.

The dogs and cats of this generation have never had to work for a meal in their lives. If you ask them to mind the house while you're away, they become surly and slink off to a corner. If you ask them to fetch the paper or a ball, they ignore you as if you didn't exist.

ALL THEY WANT to know is "What did you bring me from the Safeway or Giant?"

Well, the time has come to face up to reality. We cannot supply canned and frozen food for both our pets and outselves. Eliminate the packaged dog and cat foods in America and you will have enough meat and fish to feed the world.

Let's put our pets back on scraps and leftovers, soupbones and old cornflakes. Give them the back-to-the-pioneer spirit that once made the American dog and cat the envy of the Free World.

THEY MAY PROTEST at first, but after a while they will be grateful to us for giving them the strength to face the challenges of tomorrow.

In this hour of food crisis, the dogs and cats of America must ask themselves not what the country can feed them, but what they can feed the country.

Airline Asks Refund Of Nixon Donation

NEW YORK (UPI) — American Airlines has asked for a refund of an illegal $55,000 contribution to President Nixon's re-election campaign and is waiting for a reply from the campaign organization, the firm announced yesterday.

The company's chairman, George A. Spater, announced Friday that American donated $75,000 to campaign officials under pressure last year, but that $20,000 of it came from "noncorporate" sources and was therefore legal. Spater acknowledged that the remaining $55,000 donated from the company's treasury was in violation of election laws, which prohibit corporate contributions.

A spokesman for the company said it was optimistic about getting the money back.

Spater said his company disclosed the gifts "before any knowledge of these facts had reached the government from other sources."

"Our purpose in making this public disclosure has been to mitigate any resulting charges or penalties against the officials involved, and also to focus attention on the evils of the presidential political fund-raising system," Spater said.

"We need honest and sensible new laws that will effectively reduce both the pressures on candidates to seek political campaign contributions from business firms and the pressures on business firms to make contributions."

Diversion Ruled In Narcotic Case

A 19-year-old San Anselmo man was diverted from criminal proceedings yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a program for treatment and rehabilitation of drug offenders.

Although Raymond E. Gilbert of the county district attorney's office objected to the diversion, Judge David Menary Jr. ordered it in the case of Stephen Thomas Clark.

Clark was charged with growing 18 marijuana plants in his home.

Petaluman Draws One Year In Jail

A Petaluma man was sentenced yesterday to one year in county jail and three years probation for his part in robbing a hitchhiker and abandoning him nude.

Although the Marin District Attorney's office asked that Stanley Herbert Mitchell, 21, be sent to state prison, Judge E. Warren McGuire decided against the request.

A codefendant, Rudolph Anthony Fourshey, 29, of Marin City, will be sentenced Monday. Both were convicted by a jury of picking up Robert Gorman, 19, of Fairfax, in Larkspur Jan. 14, robbing him, threatening him with a gun and a knife, then ejecting him naked on a hill in Mill Valley.

Rohnert Park Budget Found Tough To Cut

The Rohnert Park City Council last night added three employees to the public safety department and found little room for cost-cutting in the proposed $1.2 million 1973-74 budget.

Despite arguments by Public Safety Director Robert Dennett, the council authorized two additional public safety officers rather than the three Dennett requested. The third new position will be for a fire services officer to direct the firefighting section of the department.

The council told Dennett it would review his request for another officer in six months, but would also expect a complete report on how to reduce dramatically crimes such as burglaries and malicious mischief.

Dennett argued that the extra officers are necessary to improve overnight patrols. He said with only one officer on duty at night, the city is left unprotected when the officer must go to the Sonoma County Jail to book a suspect.

Dennett said the fire safety officer would act as a fire chief. The $12,000 per year job will also include training and fire prevention duties.

The council also approved employment of two more maintenance men for the public works department, although Public Works Director William Wiggins had requested only one. He agreed that two men would be useful to handle additional parks and streets.

In other business, the council was asked by City Atty. Richard B. Maxwell to increase his monthly salary from $600 to $800. Several councilmen said the city should consider hiring a full-time attorney if Maxwell's rate continues to climb. The council said it would meet with Maxwell later before making a decision.

The council did manage to cut $600 from the budget when it agreed to remove the neon "Rohnert Park" entrance sign along Highway 101. Councilmen agreed the cost to illuminate the sign was growing too high and that some residents have complained that it is garish and ugly.

The review of the 1973-74 budget will continue at 7 p.m. today at the city office building.

$62.2 Million Tax Taken From Casinos

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI) — Nevada collected $62.2 million in taxes from its legal gambling casinos during the fiscal year just ended, according to the state Gaming Control Board.

The report issued yesterday said that the figure represented a 13.4 per cent increase from the previous year and "augers well" for the industry.

The Bahamas mark the end of 190 years of British rule today. This archipelago of more than 700 small islands was discovered in 1492 by Columbus, who made his first landing in the New World on San Salvador Island. The first settlers were British, but pirates were the main inhabitants in the early 18th Century. Later, many settlers were Loyalists who left the U.S. during the Revolution. They brought slaves to work the sugar plantations, and today 85 percent of the population is black. The islands have had control over most internal affairs since 1964. The Bahamas have no income tax. Tourists account for 70 percent of the gross national product.

Bathtub Sailor Sends Friendship

WALES, Alaska (UPI) — A California man sailed a bathtub five miles into the Bering Sea yesterday and released 1,000 letters of friendship from the American to the Russian people. The letters were released in an inner tube and wrapped in water-tight plastic.

Leonard Moore, 48, of Oakland, said he got as close as he could "under the weather conditions" to the International Dateline during the hour and a half voyage.

He said he battled rain and waves six feet high during the trip in the $15 used bathtub. Moore originally said he intended to go to Siberia. However, Soviet authorities did not give him permission to enter Russia.

Youths Held For Burglary Charge

Two juveniles, ages 16 and 17, have been cited to juvenile authorities after police found them burglarizing the administration offices at Novato High School.

On a tip, police went to the high school at 8:30 p.m. Sunday and the two fled. They were caught later. Their names were withheld on a standing order of Superior Court Judge Joseph G. Wilson.

The door had been pried open and the inside offices were ransacked. A safe had been pried open, but no money was taken, police reported. One of the juvenile's clothing was covered with cement powder from the safe, police reported.

Adlai Offers Plan To End Dollar Gap

PEORIA, Ill. (UPI) — Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, D-Ill., while sharply criticizing Nixon administration economic policies, has offered a three-point program to strengthen the American dollar in the world market.

Stevenson proposed yesterday that loans be provided for foreign banks to "buy up" the dollar; that gold be sold in the unofficial market where it commands higher prices, and that exports be limited to raise their prices overseas.

WHO WOULD be shopping for warm winter clothing at this time of year? Mrs. Jaime Pera of Mill Valley, who is planning a six week visit to her native Argentina, is struggling to find suitable clothing for the cold weather she expects to find.

Graciela Pera is taking her three sons, Jaime, 16, Claudio, 14, and Sergio, 13 to visit her parents in Buenos Aires and her husband's parents in the northern province of Tucuman. It has been five years since Mrs. Pera has been home. The boys will ride in the mountains near Tucuman, and see the famed Mar del Plata Beach near Buenes Aires.

A letter from relatives complaining about the heavy rains had Mrs. Pera shaking her head in contemplation of a second rainy season after Marin's wet winter. Pera is unable to accompany the family at this time, and will remain in Mill Valley.

Mrs. Pera is music director for St. Hilary's Church in Tiburon. She teaches Spanish music and ballet classes at St. Hilary's School.

FORTY-THREE of the 200 Australian American Field Service students who will visit the Bay Area July 12 to July 18, will be housed with Marin families.

Mrs. John W. Duckett of Tiburon, AFS district representative has already found 32 homes for the visitors. The Australian students are completing a year of study in the United States and are traveling across the country by bus.

Mrs. Duckett and her committee are also making plans for special events for the visitors. Mrs. George McDaniel ofNovato has arranged luncheon at the Kiwanis Club in Novato July 17 for those who will be housed in Novato. Excursions to the University of California at Berkeley, Muir Woods and other scenic spots are still in the planning stage.

MR. AND Mrs. John D. Harding of Mill Valley, are back from a week-long trip to the Shakespeare Festival in Ashland, Ore. They made a side trip to Jacson in the Mother Lode country of California.

ARTISTS and writers from the Golden Gate Branch of the National League of American Pen Women are exhibiting a wide variety of art work and poetry at the Civic Center Branch of the Marin Country Library.

Mrs. Lowe was a resident of Marin County for nine years and was associated with Grubb and Ellis Company, Realtors. Mrs. Lowe is now executive secretary for the Cook Inlet Region.

Of special interest in the exhibit are stained glass pieces done by artist Ann Allsman of Tiburon who has just completed work on all the stained glass windows for St. Hilary's Church in Tiburon and two published volumes of poetry by San Rafael poetess Ruth Murray Jones entitled, "Where Does Round Begin?" and "Hold Fast the Moment."

Artists and poets exhibiting include Hannah Horan, Marge Gauss, Edith Olson, Marion Elkjer, Marion Thorne, Jean Vaccaro, Inge Travers and Clair Vannuci.

THE PREVIEW reception of "A Flower From Every Meadow" at the Center of Asian Art and Culture in Golden Gate Park last night was attended by more than 2500 guests including Mrs. Alexander Imlay of Sausalito, a serving hostess, and Mr. and Mrs. Gernard Greer of Tiburon.

Consul General S. K. Bhutani and Mrs. Bhutani, key members of the Indian Consulate and prominent members of the Indian community in the Bay Area attended. Mrs. Raj T. Desai, whose husband is from the Indian state of Gujerat, made several of her own saris available to the hostesses.

The exhibition of 86 Indian miniature paintings opens to the public today and remains open through August 21. Docent tours are scheduled for noon and 1:30 p.m. daily.

When The Public Hears Of A Child In Need, Help Follows

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:

It started about a month ago when our teenage daughter heard of a local family in financial trouble because of medical expenses for their little daughter. The child needs several operations and it's taking everything they have. Sometimes there's hardly enough to eat, but the mother and father are proud and won't ask for charity.

My daughter wanted to start raising funds for them, but she found out that she and her willing friends would need a license to "solicit" and they'd have to name the family — which would embarrass them terribly.

It seems that no one can do a good deed any more without having the world know about it.

When a small child needs open heart surgery why should the City Council make it so difficult for people who want to help out? MOTHER OF A MODEST TEENAGER

DEAR MOTHER:

Perhaps your daughter has gone about this project backwards. Instead of a "secret" campaign to help a child become well again, why doesn't she ask the family if she could tell your local newspaper about the little girl's plight?

One published story might bring aid from a foundation or private donors — far more than your daughter and her friends could solicit in the neighborhood.

I can't believe the family would be embarrassed by the outpouring of kindness which always follows, after the public hears of a child in trouble. — HELEN

DEAR BOTTELS:

I think you both missed the point in your answer to "Clint" who appeared on a PTA "teen panel" in jeans because he "worked until 8 p.m. and didn't have time to change." If he had wanted to dress for the occasion, he could have found time!

The facts are that he wanted to appear before his adult group in work clothes. He was silently saying, "This is what I think of YOU!" It was a definite sign of contempt.

The lady board member in the make-up and big-flowered dress read him loud and clear, and called him on his inappropriate attire. She shouldn't have been rude, but she saw what you two didn't (when you took Clint's side): that he insulted the group visually — and was proud of it. — ANOTHER SCHOOL BOARD MEMBER

DEAR BOARD MEMBER:

Sorry, but I see what maybe you have missed: Clint spent six hours at school, probably four more hours at work — and still cared enough about his school and the community to appear on a PTA panel, when invited by those adults YOU say he held in contempt.

He evidently made a good showing, as his principal took his side too.

If what a person wears is more important that what he says — well, no offense, ASBM, but somebody seems to have HER values mixed up! — SUE

RAP:

This is to "Little Sister" whose letter touched me very much. I too have friends who aren't my "color," and I know how it feels to be called names and looked down on by society. My parents are prejudiced, too. They say it isn't right and wonder what people might think.

I feel sorry for them; but our world needs to start getting people together. I feel that dating across the color line is one simple way to start. People say, "Okay, but not now — later." If society isn't YET ready for interracial friendships, when will it be, if someone doesn't make a beginning? — FOR ONE WORLD

(Got a problem? Or a usbject for discussion, two-generation style? Direct your questions to either Sue or Helen Bottel — or both, in care of the Independent-Journal, if you want a combination mother-daughter answer.)

Premature Babies Get Better Odds

NEW YORK (UPI) — The place is a hospital nursery, but missing are the usual flail of little arms and legs in cribs and the cacophony of infant cries and bawling filling the air.

Instead, it's a strangely hushed, antiseptic, little white world of tiny inhabitants who live in glass-enclosed structures in a setting of tubes, wires and electronic gadgets.

The place is the hospital's Premature Receiving Center, one of 15 such facilities in New York City, and its tenants, some of whom look so small they could fit in a shoe box with room to spare, are premature babies who weighed less than five-and-a-half pounds when they were born.

They lie quietly in their incubators, as if conserving what strength and energy they might have just to stay alive in a world they entered before their time.

That w o r l d, to the "preemies," poses problems and perils the full-term baby doesn't have to, or is better equipped to face.

They need extra warmth and oxygen. They must be handled with extreme care and fed with special formulas and techniques, by tube and sometimes even with only a medicine dropper. They have a tendency to be anemic and are more prone to disease and infection.

Unlike the babies who will go home when their mothers leave the hospital, they must stay until they have attained a weight of five and a half pounds and are otherwise in normal health.

Most of them will make it, but some won't, depending largely on how long their mothers were pregnant and how much they weighed at birth.

Now, however, their chances of survival are greater than ever—about 85 per cent—thanks to the premature center with its specially trained personnel and sophisticated equipment.

Electronic monitoring devices have done much to fan the flickering flame of life in the "preemie."

Among the latest is a unique mattress that sounds an alarm and flashes a warning light if the baby stops breathing.

DOUBLE DIP, TRIPLE DIP OR RAINBOW? — Want to put together a cranberry and tangerine delight? No, you don't have to go to the local ice-cream parlor, just watch for the latest swingers line of colored furnishings by Schoolfield. Now that 48 house and garden colors have been selected, you can put any two together for your own double-dip special.

INSIDE YOUR HOME

Any Number Can Play Color Game

By CAROLYN S. MURRAY
(Distributed by General Features Corp.)

The color revolution continues in the home furnishings industry. And children certainly seem to be getting the biggest benefits from the rebellion against wishy-washy decorating schemes — although the rest of us are running toward color so fast, we may catch up.

So far, manufacturers seem more willing to experiment with color in furniture lines designed for the young set. Evidently, we consumers have shown timidity in the use of powerful color for the main living areas of the house, but when it comes to furnishing a nursery, a tot's room or a preteener's environment, we'll stick our necks, and our checkbooks, way out. Naturally, as the tot grows into an outspoken and opinionated adult, he or she will try to keep us on the color track.

Now there is one manufacturer of furniture, Schoolfield Furniture Industries, that has actually flipped over color. In fact, they seem to be competing for attention with ice-cream retailers by introducing a color line of storage pieces as well as bedroom and living room furntiure. They aren't fooling around, either, and have chosen 48 delicious colors.

ARE YOU ready? Try Cranberry, Tangerine, Bittersweet, Kumquat, Green Mint or Lettuce Green. Or how about less edible shades, such as Space Blue, Real Red, Sun Yellow and Parrot Green? The furnishings shown in today's illustration are composed of several of these hues, so you can see how shipshape yet versatile the line is, even when seen in plain old black and white.

The company will put together any two colors in one piece — a kind of double-dip special. Perhaps they would even take a custom order for a more complicated color range — at extra cost.

You don't have to wait for a furniture manufacturer to initiate such an idea. Paint and wall coverings can help make the color revolution a reality any day you choose. But, for the young family making new purchases, it's nice to know that such versatility already exists in the marketplace.

Openings Available At Children's Center

Openings are still available in the Fairfax-San Anselmo Children's Center located at the Yolansdale School in San Anselmo.

Parents are eligible for day care services if they live in San Anselmo, Fairfax, Woodacre and the San Geronimo Valley; if the child is between 2 and 6 years of age; if they are receiving welfare, have received welfare recently or have only a marginal income and if they require Day Care in order to work or continue in a training program.

ONE OTHER advantage of this new line is the fact that all are official House and Garden colors. That means that 600 other manufactuers in the field use the same palette to coordinate fabrics, rugs, accessories, bed linens. So you aren't stuck with a Parrot Green that just doesn't match anything else you need for the room. For example, in the room shown, the lamp in Parrot Green is from Tyndale and it matches the triple dresser from Schoolfield. The Sun-Yellow dining table from this company is an exact match of the molded-plastic accessories made by Syroco.

We do have lots of things to be grateful for in this modern world of fast communications and interchange of ideas. Why not enjoy and make use of some of this new color language.

Plea Made; Jail Time Is Reduced

A 40-year-old man yesterday pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court to two bad check charges in return for a promise he will be sentenced to no more than nine months in county jail.

Ronald Alfred Wold, of no fixed address, also was sentenced by Judge David Menary Jr. to two years in the Delancey Street Foundation in San Francisco.

The sentencing was a result of a plea bargain between Wold's attorney, and Judge Menary, in which Wold agreed to change his innocent plea and admit two counts, one of passing forced checks, the other of passing stolen checks. The Marin district attorney's office had recommended Wold spend six months in county jail.

The district attorney also asked that the forged check count remain a felony, but Menary promised Wold it will be reduced to a misdemeanor when he is sentenced. The judge also ordered Wold to make restitution for four checks totaling $90 which he wrote.

Plea Entered On Attempted Burglary

A San Rafael man, who burglarized the home of Bryce W. Anderson, Independent-Journal executive editor, pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court yesterday to a felony charge of attempted burglary.

Henry Jackson Jr., 23, will be sentenced to no more than four months in Marin County Jail as the result of a plea bargain agreed to by his attorney, Judge David Menary Jr. and the district attorney's office.

Jackson originally was charged with burglary and attempted burglary but agreed to plead guilty only to the attempted burglary charge. The other count was dismissed. He is to be sentenced July 30.

He has been in prison in Louisiana for most of the last two years for burglary after he was arrested by authorities there while visiting his parents in late 1970.

He was arrested by the California Highway Patrol May 23, 1973, when he was stopped for driving with a bald tire. A bench warrant was discovered connecting him with the burglary of Anderson's home Nov. 13, 1970.

Injured Cyclist Is Out Of Hospital

A San Rafael man, Charles J. Bock, 40, of 145 San Marino Drive, injured Friday in a motorcycle accident, was released yesterday from Marin General Hospital.

According to the California Highway Patrol, Bock was injured at 9:05 p.m. when his motorcycle, northbound on North San Pedro Road left the road in Santa Venetia just south of Upper Road. He suffered a fractured left shoulder and multiple cuts, the hospital reported.

Tomales Bay Pier Wins County Planner Approval

The Marin County Planning Commission yesterday approved a 300-foot pier into Tomales Bay as part of a West Marin developer's resort condominium project north of Marshall.

In approving the pier 5 to 2, the commission trimmed its size from 406 feet sought by Herbert H. Angress and rejected by the county environmeneal protection committee.

The committee — made up of the directors of parks, public works and planning — rejected the 406-foot length as a safety hazard to boaters. Angress appealed that decision to the planning commission.

Commission approval of the shorter pier came on the advice of the Army Corps of Engineers, which questioned the 406-foot length but said a 350-foot pier, if well lighted, would not be a hazard.

The 300-foot length was reached after Angress agreed it was the minimum length necessary to allow fishing and temporary boat docking at the resort, which plans 60 condominiums and a restaurant.

Commissioners Jerry Friedman and Gloria Duncan opposed the action, saying the pier would mar the shoreline and be of questionable value at the sometimes windy location.

The project as a whole has been held up by the North Central Coast Regional Conservation Commission, which is reviewing its impact and compatibility with coastline preservation.

Angress started the project years ago and won approval from county supervisors late last year.

Hicks Valley Subdivision Is Rejected

The Marin County Planning Commission yesterday rejected subdivision of the picturesque Council Oak Ranch in Hicks Valley into 31 small "ranchettes".

The commission's 6 to 1 rejection of a tentative subdivision map is expected to be appealed to county supervisors.

The commission also urged supervisors to rezone the 220-acre ranch to the same A-60 (60-acre lot) designation as neighboring ranches.

The ranch, located at the corner of the Novato-Hicks Valley and Point Reyes-Petaluma roads, was zoned for 10-acre lots a year ago because its owners had started subdivision proceedings prior to the county's move to reclassify all agricultural lands A-60.

At about the same time, the then proposed countywide general plan called for a village in the Hicks Valley area but that proposal was later removed.

In rejecting the subdivision yesterday, commissioners agreed it does not conform to the approved countywide general plan, is in conflict with the county's village expansion policy and could hamper nearby dairying operations.

Commissioner Marie J. Sessi, in voting against the action, repeated earlier legal opinions from County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney that land can't be rezoned simply because it is proposed for development and that a property owner has a right to propose uses for his land under its current zoning.

Others repeated that their denial of the subdivision was based on the countywide plan and the need to preserve agriculture.

The Marin County Planning Commission also:

ELECTION — Elected Commissioner William Long to a one-year term as chairman and Rebecca Watkin to a like term as vice chairman.

LUCAS VALLEY — Postponed to July 23 action on rezoning scattered parcels in the Marinwood and Lucas Valley areas from planned community designations to residential, commercial, limited agricultural and open area. The planned community zoning was rescinded last month by county supervisors prompting the rezonings.

MAP — Approved a tentative subdivision map for the Strawberry Cove condominium project on West Seminary Drive. Strawberry. Developer Peter Haywood proposed 72 condominium units on the 6.4-acre shoreline site. The project was originally promoted by Paul Broman of San Rafael.

AMENDMENT — Endorsed an amendment to the county zoning code permitting the county to require developers to cluster homes when building in agricultural areas.

DIVISION — Postponed to July 23 an appeal of a road improvement condition placed on the land division of the Veronda Ranch north of Novato. The Ranch is the proposed site of World College West and the Renaissance Pleasure Faire and center. Land owner Charmaine Veronda appealed the condition, saying it was unfair to require her to make road improvements to San Antonio Road and dedicate a flood easement as part of the land division. The commission agreed to require the flood easement and defer action on the road improvements.

Jail Term Ordered In Auto Theft

A San Anselmo man who previously had admitted stealing a car was sentenced yesterday to 30 days in Marin County Jail by Judge David Menary Jr. of Marin Superior Court.

Menary also ordered Mark Allen Warner, 22, to enter an alcohol abuse program and make restitution to the car owner for damage to the vehicle as conditions of two years' probation. The sentence was part of a plea bargain agreed to by Menary and Warner's attorney.

San Anselmo police arrested Warner March 7 after he took a car parked on Los Angeles Boulevard.

Gary T. Ragghianti, Warner's attorney, told Menary his client is an alcoholic "who is going to drink himself to death unless he stops."

Menary agreed, and told Warner, "You're at the crossroads of life. Take a good look at your drinking habits, because that's where your problem lies."

Dixie Board To Hold Election

The Dixie School District board will elect officers for 1973-74 when it meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the administration office on Trellis Drive.

The board will hear a report from Supt. Clifford W. Campbell on job responsibilities of district administrators and review the Ralph M. Brown Act, the state's antisecrecy law.

The board will also consider a publication budget for 1973-74 and review a $5,000 tab for library expansion at Don Timoteo School.

Guilty Plea In Forgery; Jail Pledge

In return for the plea, arranged during a bargaining session, Judge David Menary Jr. promised 25-year-old Michael Joseph Mayfield no more than 90 days in Marin County Jail if he makes restitution. Menary also dismissed a second bad check count against Mayfield and set sentencing for Aug. 13.

Mayfield and two other men, Nelson Cloude Thomas, 26, of Richmond, and Dennis Alvin Johnson, 34, of San Rafael, were arrested by San Rafael police after eight checks totaling $675 were cashed on the account of a San Rafael woman.

Sentencing of Thomas and Johnson, originally set for yesterday, was delayed to July 23 pending receipt of a probation report on the men.

Fairfax Men Face U.S. Court

SAN FRANCISCO — Preliminary hearing for two Fairfax men charged with possession of cocaine for sale has been set for July 26 at 10 a.m. in U.S. magistrate's court, before Magistrate Richard S. Goldsmith.

Rocky Stewart Smith, alias James Dahl, 25, and George Prall Schwartz, 28, both of 148 Madrone Road were freed yesterday on $10,000 bail each.

The two were arrested July 5 after allegedly selling cocaine to undercover agents at their home.

Kennedy And Tunney Shoot The Rapids

CISCO, Utah (UPI) — Senators Edward Kennedy and John Tunney took a boat trip down the high rapids of the Colorado River in Utah. Kennedy spent part of the time out of the boat floating in the river with only a life jacket.

The trip was a vacation, but the location —the Colorado's Westwater Canyon —is being considered for inclusion in the Wild River Act, a move that would protect the scenic canyon from development.

Abandoned Cars Face A Roundup

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Californians were urged yesterday to report vehicles abandoned on private property so that they may be hauled away under a new statewide program.

California Highway Patrol commissioner Walter Pudinski and Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, who introduced a bill initiating the program, outlined the plan in Sacramento yesterday.

Under the vehicle program begun July 1, the highway patrol will coordinate activities of local governments to remove some 200,000 vehicles which have already been located.

PAID BY FEES

Financing for the removal will come from a one-time addition of $1 to 1973 automobile registration fees, that raised $14 million.

According to Sgt. Richard Hart of the patrol's Corte Madera office, the local department will set up agreements with Marin County and various city governments to haul vehicles away. If the local governmental units choose not to cooperate, the state agency will contract with private operators to remove the derelicts.

Hart said that the process of setting up the agreements will begin soon but he gave no date when the process of removal will begin.

MARIN NOT READY

Pudinski and Collier yesterday urged citizens to report abandoned vehicles to their local highway patrol office but Hart said the Corte Madera unit was not prepared to take action on such calls at this time under the new program.

Hart said the Corte Madera office had been flooded by calls prior to the initiation of the removal plan concerning many abandoned vehicles in Marin. He said that these calls will be routed to local governmental units for action under the new plan after agreements are set up.

Public To Pay Attorney In Voiceprint Case Trial

By GEORGE NEVIN

The defense attorney in Marin's first voiceprint case yesterday was authorized to continue representing defendant Stephen C. Chapter, but at public expense from now on, and announced the case will be tried without a jury.

Attorney Robert L. Moran said he has changed his defense strategy and opted for the nonjury trial because Chapter can't afford to pay him during an expected 10-week jury trial and because of the complexity of the case.

Trial is to begin at 10 a.m. tomorrow before Superior Court Judge E. Warren McGuire.

McGuire yesterday granted Moran's motion that he be named chapter's counsel at taxpayers' expense, a maximum of $2,500, but refused Moran $26,500 the attorney said he has spent in his own time and funds so far.

McGuire also granted $4,355 in fees to pay six expert witnesses to testify on Chapter's behalf, but disallowed hiring two Marin psychiatrists Moran said would testify Chapter was mentally incapable of making the bomb threat with which he is charged.

The judge refused to bring in yet another expert, Dr. Kenneth Stevens of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, whom Moran wanted as an impartial witness to act as a friend of the court.

STEPHEN C. CHAPTER
Trial is tomorrow

Declaring Chapter, a 28-year-old former telephone installer, to be indigent, McGuire observed that Moran's leaving the case would be counterproductive.

If that were to happen, said McGuire, "the public defender would not be in a position to represent the defendant because of his caseload and because he would have to familiarize himself with the case."

This would cause a delay, and expert witnesses both for Chapter and the district attorney's office already have commitments after the trial.

Before the hearing in Judge McGuire's court yesterday, Moran said Chapter can't afford to pay him for a jury trial that might last 10-weeks and Moran himself no longer can absorb the cost of the case. The nonjury trial now is expected to last 10 days, Moran said.

Also, he said, a judge would be able to understand the technical aspects of the case better than a jury.

About $5,400 has been pledged thus far by members of Chapter's union, the communications Workers of America, but the national union organization has refused to help underwrite Chapter's defense.

The former installer is accused of making two bomb threat calls to the Pacific Telephone Co. office in San Rafael on a line used only by Chapter and 17 other installers.

The calls were recorded, and a voiceprint comparison of them with Chapter's voice led to his arrest.

Beer Strike Hardly Felt In Marin

Although some outlets do not have all brands and some smaller than usual supplies are being maintained, the three-week-old beer strike reportedly has not caused serious shortages at Marin stores and bars.

Paul Ciampi of the Ciampi Distributing Co. in San Rafael said that all outlets have a "resonable supply" at this time even though some deliveries are being made by administrative personnel.

Vern Silva of Golden Gate Liquors agreed with Ciampi on the problems which are being faced in limited availability of some brands but said his company has been able to meet most requests to date.

Robert Biggens of Teamsters Local 888, has reported some progress in negotiations between the union and beer wholesalers but no agreement was reached in talks in San Jose yesterday.

The strike began last month after month-long negotiations broke down over wages, pension and health and welfare issues.

Biggens refused to discuss in what areas progress had been made and the California Beer Wholesalers could not be reached for comment. Another meeting between the two groups is scheduled tomorrow.

Fifteen of the 109 distributors who have been struck are now receiving union deliveries after agreeing to terms with the union Biggens said. But none of the 15 is in Marin.

Petaluma Sewer Plant Could Cost An Additional $1 Million

Improvements to Petaluma's sewer plant could cost the city $1 million more than expected, the city council was told yesterday.

Engineers reviewed construction bids on the project and said the low bid of $4,923,919 is realistic although it is considerably higher than their original estimate of $3,640,000.

Since 80 per cent of the financing is to come from the state and environmental protection agency, the bids must first be reviewed in Sacramento before a contract can be granted.

City engineer David A. Young told the council the state could ask that the project be rebid in hope of lowering costs, could award the contract and assume the higher cost or could hold to the promised $3.3 million and expect the city to pay the remaining $1,623,919.

Engineering consultants, Yoder Orlob and Trotter, said the original estimate was incorrect in several places and that spiraling inflation also increased construction costs.

The council said it would forward bids to Sacramento and await a recommendation from state and federal authorities.

The new system would be in preparation for Petaluma's part in the subregional sewerage system and would serve the city through 1985 or a population of 52,000.

In other business, the council reviewed the makeup of the 1973-74 residential development allotment board and agreed to lower the number of members from 17 to 15. The board reviews development plans and recommends which should be built under the limitation of 500 new units per year.

Planning director William C. McGivern had recommended the board be reduced to 12 members since last year's larger group proved somewhat unwieldy.

The council agreed to limit the planning commission and council to one representative each rather than the two from last year and to add a representative from the parks, music and recreation commission. Alternates will be named for each of the groups.

Other members will include four school board representatives and six citizens-at-large. The council agreed to delete the three representatives of business and professions that served last year.

The council also agreed to appoint two members who served on last year's board to provide some continuity.

Seven Hook Up To Alarm Alert

Five local merchants and two homeowners have contracted with private security firms to hook up burglar alarms that link the home or business with the Fairfax Police Department's alarm alert board, Chief Charles A. Grasso said yesterday.

The department has "unlimited space" for other alarm boxes, according to Grasso, who said the service is available from local security firms at a minimal monthly rental.

"Serious crimes are rising on a national level," Grasso said, saying police might not have captured two men recently following the armed robbery of a Fairfax bank "had it not been for the alarm system."

Grasso urged residents and businessmen to contact local security firms for more information.

Closed Meeting Set By Tiburon Board

The Tiburon Sanitary District board will hold a special closed meeting Thursday at 7 p.m. at District headquarters to discuss the performance of the five district employees.

According to James Murray, board president, the directors may consider realigning responsibilities among various jobs.

4 Cars Robbed In San Rafael

A thief who told a neighbor he was fixing a car radio burglarized four cars on Las Gallinas Avenue yesterday before fleeing, San Rafael police reported today.

Police said a man wearing brown pants and a brown plaid shirt, with brown hair and gold frame glasses, ransacked four cars parked at 845 Las Gallinas Avenue before fleeing when a neighbor became suspicious.

Police said they did not know the value of items taken from the vehicles.

Hidden Valley Plan Approval Rescinded

The Corte Madera Planning Commission last night rescinded its approval of the tentative map for Hidden Valley Unit 6, acting on the advice of Town Atty. Albert Bianchi.

Secretary Terry Condy said Bianchi advised that when the commission approved the tentative map for unit 6 in the Northridge area in March 1972 the town's zoning ordinance had been changed eight days earlier.

Mrs. Condy said some of the hilly lots in unit 6 were only about 10,000 square feet, while the zoning requires 20,000 to 40,000 square feet.

Proposed are nine houses on South Way, an extension of Sausalito Street, by developers Roemer and Estes. Mrs. Condy said several residents spoke against the hilltop development, and a spokesman for the developers complained that owners of already-built Hidden Valley homes were the loudest protesters.

Corte Madera Planning Commission Also:

REDEVELOPMENT — Recommended the town council delete the phrase "and commercial uses" from the designation of land surrounding the proposed regional shopping center on the redevelopment project east of Highway 101 — a move to dilute opposition to the controversial redevelopment project, initiated by the town council, acting as the redevelopment agency.

BICYCLE — Referred to the town's general plan study committee a request from Harry H. Andrews, 4 Underhill Road, Mill Valley, for a bicycle path connection between the towns.

RING MOUNTAIN — Agreed with the concept, proposed by the Marin County Board of Supervisors, that an ad hoc temporary planning commission be formed to preserve the Ring Mountain area in Tiburon but didn't appoint anyone to it.

CHRISTMAS TREE HILL — Set a special meeting July 24 at 7:30 p.m. at town hall to meet with residents of Christmas Tree Hill to discuss fire, traffic and development problems.

MADERA DEL PRESIDIO — Authorized altering the commission's minutes of its June 11 meeting to change the word "accepted" an environmental impact report on Madera del Presidio to "received" — again on advice of town atty. Bianchi, — and set a special public hearing on the report, and on a tentative map for the controversial high density development for July 31, at 7:30 p.m. at town hall.

Cut Asked In Usage Of Water

A 90-day voluntary water rationing program will begin immediately in the Marin Municipal Water District, the district board decided last night. (Other water district stories, page 1.)

Directors voted to urge customers to cut down on their water use by observing certain guidelines — watering their yards only during certain hours and not using hoses to wash their cars and driveways.

In line with this, the board agreed to seek out consultants who might be able to provide the district with an education program which would encourage conservation.

Directors gave no indication last night as to whether they intend to make the water rationing mandatory — or make wasting water a misdemeanor — if the voluntary program does not cut water use.

It had originally been proposed to outlaw watering any kind of vegetation between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. and washing of motor vehicles, driveways and sidewalks with hoses, but public opposition to that measure caused the board to back down on that plan.

Mill Valley Turns Down Rock Music At Tavern

Rock combos are too noisy for the Old Mill Tavern, the Mill Valley Planning Commission decided last night.

The commission voted 6 to 1 to deny a permit for live entertainment at the tavern at 106 Throckmorton Avenue.

The tavern managers said they planned to use a small rock group, similar to ones used at the Old Mill before the city required permits for music in bars.

Commissioner Richard N. Jessup voted for the tavern and argued that the matter should be continued.

According to Robert J. Hanna, Associate Planner, about 25 to 30 residents from homes near the tavern showed up to contest the Old Mill's application. They argued that previous rock groups there had been too noisy, Hanna said.

Hanna said there were complaints that the character of downtown Mill Valley was changed from what it was several years ago and that the city was becoming increasingly "Sausalitoized."

Commission members told tavern manager Lyle Baucom that they might compromise with him and suggested that he come back with a proposal for a quieter musical form such as piano bar.

The commission also turned down a request from Mape Industries for rezoning that would have allowed a five-building office complex just below the Shelter Ridge development in the Sycamore Avenue area. According to Hanna, commission members said that the developer should await the completion of the city's general plan to see what the city had in mind for the development site.

Lanes To Close

The state Division of Highways announced today that traffic will be reduced to one lane east and westbound from the west gate of San Quentin Prison to the Larkspur City limits tomorrow from 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. to permit widening and realignment of the roadway.

Woman Found Dead At Home

The body of Carmen Henry, 47, of 588 Fairway Drive, Novato, was found yesterday in a wooded area about 175 yards from her home, according to the Marin County Coroner's Office.

An automatic revolver was found beside her body. Death was apparently due to a self-inflicted gunshot, according to the coroner. The body was found by a neighbor, Willard Stone of 549 Fairway Drive, the coroner reported. She was pronounced dead on arrival at Novato General Hospital.

She is survived by her husband, Clark Henry.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at the Redwood Chapel Funeral Home, Novato.

Phone Taken

A thief apparently fond of phones entered a gas station at 1221 Third Street, San Rafael, on Sunday or Monday and took a coin phone from the wall, police reported today.

Mill Valley Fire Captain's Leg Is Broken

A Mill Valley fire department captain was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital after suffering a broken leg when he fell under the wheel of a rolling fire truck.

Fire officials said Robert S. Harder was aboard a 1,000-gallon pumper truck bound for a demonstration of fire equipment at Park School Saturday when the mishap occurred shortly before 11 a.m.

The truck was wheeling into the school parking lot on Elm Avenue when Harder jumped to the ground before the truck came to a stop and slipped under the wheel as it rolled over his leg, officials said.

Harder, an 18-year veteran of the department, lives in Novato.

Hall Of Fame For Recordings Planned

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences has announced it will establish a Hall of Fame to honor recordings of "lasting qualitative or historical significance.

The Academy said the Hall of Fame would be similar in concept and purpose to its baseball and football counterparts. The recordings will be selected by a panel of Academy members and outside musicologists, critics and music historians. Copies of the records, as well as plaques inscribed with the name of the artists, will be prominently displayed in the hall.

Franceschini Wants Some Family Time

Robert Franceschini is a quiet, unassuming man who, like many of us, is realizing that his family is growing up and before long they will be gone. He wants to make sure the time doesn't pass him by before he gets out with his family more.

BOB FRANCESCHINI

There are those fishing trips, those backpacking trips he wanted to go on. Now he will have more time to spend with his family. He wants to appreciate the growing years of Steve, 13; Laurie, 12; Rick, 11, and Tony, 9.

That's the reason he stepped down the other day as head football coach at Drake High School. He had been head coach for the Pirates since 1958, a total of 15 years, and assistant coach for two years before that. When he began his coaching career at Drake there were no Franceschini children. Things are different then.

"My family is growing up," he said. "I have a few more years with them and then they will be fully grown."

But now Franceschini will be an assistant football coach at Drake under new head coach Dean Lazzarini, a young man of 25 who not too many years ago was a dazzling halfback for Franceschini at Drake High. The pupil returns as master.

"IT'S NOT A step out, just a step down," said Franceschini about his move. "I will still be in it (football) pretty strongly." He will be coaching the line ("That's been my baby all these years") and Carl (Red) Brown, Fran's assistant all 15 years, will be helping out with the backs.

Fran had no idea that Lazzarini, All-Marin County Athletic League halfback and record-setting sprinter who starred at Drake from 1963 through 65, would return to take over the football program.

"For me it's really an honor," said Franceschini. "This is what it's all about . . . getting these kids prepared and hope they do well."

Lazzarini was assistant football coach the past two seasons while he was a student teacher and then a temporary teacher. Then in May Dean received full-time status and Franceschini made his decision.

"Carl and I worked at it. We had something to do with getting Dean at Drake. But we had to wait for him to be hired as a full-time teacher," said the veteran coach. "I've been thinking about stepping down for a couple of years."

Bob is very optimistic about the future of Drake's football program. "Dean has some new ideas and has good rapport with the players, and those are some of the things needed."

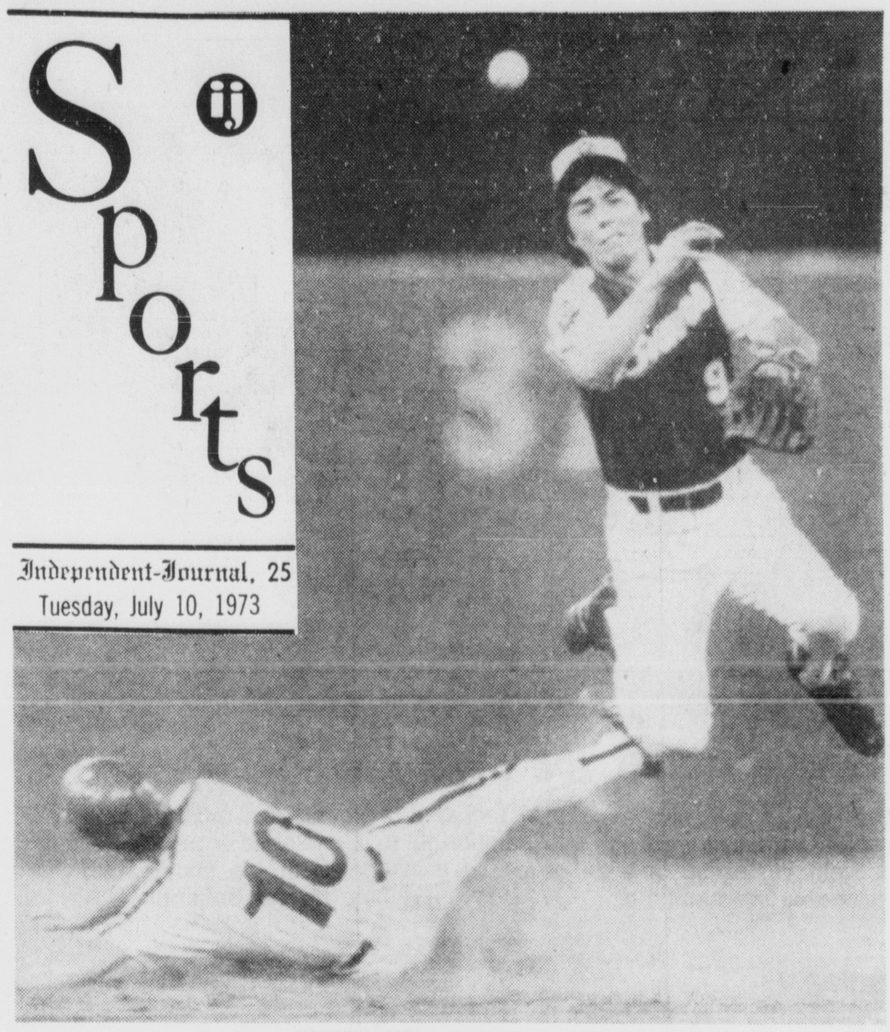
LAZZARINI IS NOT the only returning Pirate in the football program. Dan Orr, a guard who played on the same team as Lazzarini in 1965, and finished his prep days the following year, is back at Drake as junior varsity football coach.

"We work very hard on getting our players back," smiled Franceschini. Like Lazzarini, the 25-year-old Orr has been coaching at Drake the past two years.

Being head coach takes a lot of time away from the family during the summer months. Now that responsibility switches to Lazzarini.

"But I don't want to get out of football," said Fran. "It's still my life. I still have a lot to offer and I can do this by coaching the line."

And now he'll have time to do those things he has always wanted to do with his kids. A family grows up so fast. It's too bad we can't slow down the years.



GOING FOR TWO

Atlanta's Marty Perez cut the classic figure of a shortstop going for the double play last night in Philadelphia, but the results weren't classic at all, as the Phillies' Steve Carlton beat the relay to first base after forcing Larry Bowa (10) at second with an infield grounder in the fifth inning. The Braves won in 10, 6-3. See baseball roundup, page 26.

Lee Tops Decker In Pitchers' Duel

Terra Lindan Hurls Shutout For Boston

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI) — It was a first for Bill Lee.

Lee, who came out of Terra Linda to become the leading pitcher for the Boston Red Sox this year, got his first major league shutout Monday night, a 2-0 win over Minnesota Twins' right-hander Joe Decker, formerly of Petaluma.

"I think I had very good stuff tonight," Lee said. "The screwball, the curve, everything was right."

Lee, 11-3 with a 2.33 earned run average, struck out five and walked three. He allowed seven hits, but never let a Minnesota runner past second base. It was the third time he beat the Twins this season and gave him a 5-0 lifetime record against them.

Losing pitcher Decker (3-4) also looked sharp, allowing seven hits while striking out four and walking three.

Orlando Cepeda, who had three hits, and Rico Petrocelli, who had two, won the game for Boston in the second inning. Cepeda led off with a single and Petrocelli followed with his 11th home run. The 369-foot homer barely cleared the top of the left field fence.

The Red Sox, now in second place in the American League East, one game behind New York, have won seven of their last eight games and 16 of their last 22.

Lee, who said his performance "might have been as good as any I've pitched this year," got out of a couple tight spots.

With two on and one out in the second, he got the next two batters. Rick Miller made a good catch for the first out in the eighth inning but then Lee allowed two singles. Bobby Darwin ended the inning by hitting into a dobule play, one of three in the game by the Sox infield.

Tony Oliva was the only Twin to get more than one hit. He had three.

Boston and Minnesota meet again tonight.

GIANTS HOST CUBS

McCovey Back At First Base

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Willie McCovey will be at first base tonight when San Francisco hosts Chicago, but he will probably be on the bench in Wednesday afternoon's rematch.

McCovey, who has belted 398 homers in his career and was the league's Most Valuable Player in 1969, is seeing a lot of bench time this season while one of the young Giants, Gary Thomasson, battles him for a starting job. Manager Charlie Fox feels McCovey's tired legs need rest, especially when an afternoon game follows a night contest.

McCovey, hitting .246 this season with 14 homers and 38 runs batted in, doesn't like it.

Starting last Sunday for the first time in several days, he put on a great one man show as he singled three times, scored once, legged it from first to third on a short single and wiped out the pivot man to break up a double play attempt.

McCovey is keeping his feelings somewhat to himself and manager Charlie Fox is sorry about the situation but he says "I don't care if a guy hits standing on his head or catches the ball in his teeth. If he gets the job done, he plays. I'd do anything—play the devil or a Tibetan Monk—if they could get a pennant for that man (owner Horace Stoneham) down the hall.

"That's what I'm here to try to do and God knows I'm trying. We all are. Only 25 of us can't do it on the field at the same time. Some of us must sit and wait and be ready. It is my judgment that Willie should do some of that sitting and waiting —for the good of all of us."

But while the Giants play the game of who's on first, they'll send ace Ron Bryant (13-5) to the hill tonight against a tough customer in the Cub's Rick Reuschel (9-5).

Marin Yacht Holds Lead In 'Transpac'

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — In yacht racing, you don't have to be ahead to be the leader, as David W. Allen of Belvedere continues to prove.

Allen, skipper and owner of the 42-foot sloop Improbable from the San Francisco Yacht Club of Belvedere, remained the leader yesterday in corrected time standings in the 27th Transpacific Yacht Race.

Allen's craft, which also leads Class B, is not the closest to finishing the 2,225-nautical mile race from Los Angeles to Honolulu. Windward Passage, Mark Johnson's 73-foot ketch representing the New York Yacht Club, was 15 miles ahead of Ragtime from Long Beach with 1,337 miles to go.

Winds were light yesterday (eight knots) and are expected to stay that way, all but ruling out any chance that Windward Passage could break its 1971 record of nine days, nine hours and six minutes. The boats left Los Angeles at 1 p.m. Wednesday.

Windward Passage's 24-hour run yesterday was 179 miles for an average of 7.46 knots. Ragtime logged 188 miles for 7.83 knots.

Tenacity, owned and skippered by Rolfe Croker of Belvedere and representing the St. Francis Yacht Club of San Francisco, held its lead in Class C. Other leaders were Robon, Class A, and Ariana, Class C.

IN GERMANY

Coach Predicts U.S. Track Win

MUNICH, Germany (UPI) — A young and inexperienced United States track and field team, travelling without a number of Olympic champions and world record holders, should open its European swing on a winning note against West Germany, head coach Jim Bush said today.

The Americans go out against West Germany Wednesday and Thursday in the 80,000 capacity Olympic Stadium. It is the first stop on a tour that will be highlighted by the annual meet against the Soviet Union in Minsk, July 23-24.

"We have got a very fine young team, one of the strongest ever following the Olympics and I believe we'll do much better than most people expect," Bush said.

He scorned predictions that the Russians will tear his team apart with so many stars back home in the States.

"I don't agree. We have many new faces here. They are not big stars yet but definitely world class athletes," he said. "We should beat the West German even if I'm not buying the rumors that they are suffering from a post-Olympic let-down and field one of the weakest teams in years."

West German experts have talked more of the absent stars than the present U.S. athletes.

Those missing include Rod Milburn, the Olympic champion, who broke the 14-year-old 110-meter high hurdles record in Zurich last week with 13.1 clocking.

Milburn finished fifth in the AAU trials last month in Bakersfield, Calif. and was not nominated. Steve Smith, the indoor pole vault world record holder, did not turn up at Bakersfield and was left out. The latest drop-out is Rick Wohlhuter, a 24-year-old Chicago insurance man who could not get away from his job. Wohlhuter recently posted a 880 yards world record with 1:44.6 mins.

A's Odom To Face Cleveland

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Manager Dick Williams of the Oakland A's hopes that John Odom's last outing was for real as he sends the slumping hurler to the hill tonight in the first of a two-game set with Cleveland.

Odom, who was 15-6 with a 2.51 earned run mark for last season's World Champions, is a dismal 2-9 and 5.15 this time around. But he tossed 6 2-3 shutout innings in his last outing against Chicago to gain the victory.

The A's were idle Monday, but dealt off a player when shortstop Dal Maxvill was acquired by Pittsburgh for the $20,000 waiver price. Of course the Bucs also have to pick up his salary, estimated at around $50,000.

Starks Win Title

Arlene and Albert Stark reign as champions of the first Mill Valley Recreation Department Husband-Wife Tennis Tournament following their 14-12 pro set victory over John and Peaches Pogue at Boyle Park July 4.

Preakness Films To Be Reviewed

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The Maryland Racing Commission was to review a videotape today of the Preakness May 19 with the result a possible clean sweep by superhorse Secretariat of Triple Crown records.

The five members of the commission viewed the Columbia Broadcasting System tape with the owner of the horse, Mrs. Helen Tweedy, and his trainer, Lucien Laurin, at a Baltimore television studio.

Secretariat set records in his lopsided victories at the Kentucky Derby and the Belmont Stakes. The tape purportedly showed that the horse set a record in the second leg of the Triple Crown as well.

In addition to viewing the tapes, the commission took testimony from the track clocker, stewards and others.

The Meadow Stable colt's winning time for the Preakness was initially recorded at 1:55. But track stewards lowered the time to 1:54 2-5 to compensate for an error by the electronic timer.

The new time, second only to Canonero II's record of 1:54 set in 1971, came from the official Pimlico clocker, E. T. McLean Jr.

But Frenchy Schwartz and Frank Robinson, clockers for the Daily Racing Form, worked independently in the press box and came up with a time of 1:53 2-5, which would break the record.

Baltimore News American Handicapper Clem Florio also said he clocked Secretariat in a record breaking time, 1:53 4-5, and verified his timing by checking it three times against the videotape.

Miss Louie Wins Match In Belvedere

Although most of the top seeds in the Pacific Coast Junior Tennis Championships at Belvedere Tennis Club had to wait until today for first round matches, top-seeded Marisa Louie of San Francisco got off to a fast start yesterday, whipping Amy Hoyt of San Rafael 6-0, 6-0 in girls 18 singles.

Holmes Gets Break In 49er Deal

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco 49ers, who open their Redwood City training camp Friday, apparently are putting a lot of trust in top draft pick Mike Holmes of Texas Southern.

The 49ers Monday swapped safety Johnny Fuller to New Orleans for an undisclosed future draft choice. The 27- year-old Fuller, a five-year veteran, was the third 49er traded between seasons for draft picks.

Wide receiver Preston Riley also went to New Orleans and guard Elmer Collett was sent to Baltimore.

Fuller was a backup safety man who saw plenty of action in the tough but injury-prone 49er defensive backfield. But the 49ers apparently feel that Windlan Hall, Ralph McGill and especially the rookie Holmes will give them needed depth at the position.

Holmes is at the College All Star camp in Chicago where the 49ers top draft pick of last year, wide receiver Terry Beasley, suffered the first of a series of injuries that made his rookie season a disappointing one.

The 49ers are gambling that the same thing won't happen to Holmes.

Maccabiah Games Open In Israel

TEL AVIV (UPI) — A pair of Swedish twins was expected to dominate the first batch of swimming finals today in the opening round of competition at the ninth Maccabiah games.

Brent Zerniewizki and his sister Aneta were touted as the favorites to win most of the four events scheduled.

Brent will be out to break butterfly, individual medley and four freestyle records set by U.S. Olympian Mark Spitz in his 1965 and 1969 appearances at the Jewish games.

Finals in men's fencing, heavyweight and light-heavyweight judo and weightlifting were also set to be held during the day at sites in Ramat Gan, Tel Aviv and Jerusalem. More than 1,700 athletes from 27 countries have arrived to compete in 20 sports during the 10-day games, held every four years in Israel since 1932. Police spokesmen described the security measures for the events as among the tightest ever in this country.

A memorial torch lighting for 11 Israeli athletes killed by Arab guerrillas at last years Munich Olympics highlighted the opening ceremonies Tuesday before a crowd of 50,000.

The flames were lit from a torch relayed by runners along a 30-mile route that started in the hill town of Modiin. There, a band of Jewish warriors called the Maccabeans began a revolt against the holy lands Hellenistic rulers in the 2nd century b.c.

Two delegations — from Rhodesia and Spain—carried no national flag during the colorful marchpast. Their governments maintain no diplomatic relations with Israel so the contestants came as representatives of their local Jewish sporting organizations.

The games appeals committee disqualified second-seeded Canadian tennis player Vicki Berner, 28, contending she plays professionally for a women's touring group in the United States.

Finley Not Yet Rid Of Memphis Tams

NEW YORK (UPI) — The American Basketball Association said Monday that a Providence, R.I., group failed to meet stipulated conditions for purchasing the Memphis Tams from Charles O. Finley.

Commissioner Robert Carlson said the group, headed by Paul Lynch, will meet again Tuesday in an effort to consume the deal to the satisfaction of both parties.

The conditions were supposed to be fulfilled by the Providence group when the ABA trustees met in San Diego, June 27-28, but the deadline was extended to July 9. Paramount in the deal was the obtaining of a suitable lease for the Providence Civic Center, where the team would play its games, and certain financial aspects which Lynch's syndicate was supposed to meet.

Finley purchased the Tams last year, saving the franchise from extinction. The millionaire insurance man, who also owns the baseball Oakland A's and the Hockey California Seals, became disenchanted with Memphis' failure to reach the playoffs last season and indicated a willingness to sell the team.

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

Odds And Ends In The Outdoors

It was a beautiful weekend, but with the tides wrong for the bass fishermen, fishing was in a slump. Next weekend, the early morning runouts will be just right again. Of course, if all the boats bunch up at the hot spots, the fishing could be slow.

Bob Wilson and Marty Medin gave it a go outside the Gate a few days ago for stripers and rockfish. They noticed about 15 anglers catching stripers right and left off the rocks at Point Diablo. They started to take their boat in close to shore there, when they noted the shore anglers waving them off, and casting those big bugeye jigs all around their boat. They figured discretion was the better part of valor at this point!

THE SHORE anglers kept yelling, "You've got the whole ocean, get out of here!" These same kind of warnings are given by the shore casters at Lime Point. You really can't blame them, and of course the fishing stays good at the area with no motors churning to scare the fish away. (I'm taking my big bugeyes to Red Rock this week. Beware!)

Bob and Marty did catch a couple of sacks of mixed rockfish using the big Hopkins jig. They had Bob Taverna, one of the firemen from Woodacre, along, but Marty said those waves just turned Taverna as green as the ocean water. Ugh, that getting seasick is for the birds in more ways than one.

ON SUNDAY, the ocean outside the Gate was almost flat calm. There were probably 200 boats between Tennessee Cove and Rocky Point. One angler, Dick Steinhart out of Loch Lomond, came in with three salmon, and one 20-pound bass, fishing off Muir Beach.

In his words, there were thousands of shakers. He said he really worked for his three fish, then as luck would have it, one slipped out of his hands into the drink at the Loch Lomond bait barge as he was showing it off. As of the last report, they had commenced dragging operations for that fish!

NO STURGEON were reported taken. I suppose with the sharks and rays now in the bay, it's hard to keep a bait in the water.

Keith Fraser of the bait shop at Loch Lomond reported the rubber lip perch fishing tops off shore near the California City area. Also, that finally those little bay shiners have arrived, so the shiner drifters can plan for some good drifting this coming week.

Sam Knoles, incidentally, has a new Lady K. No, I don't mean a new wife, but a new boat. It's a 20-foot Skipjack, right off the ways. Boy, there's a guy that's got it made.

DOVE SEASON this year will no doubt open Sept. 1, Saturday. I usually plan a trip to Lassen County for doves and sage grouse on Sept. 1 each year. This year the sage grouse season will be open only on Sept. 15 and 16 in Inyo, Lassen, Modoc and Mono counties. The bag and possession limit for the two days is just one bird per person. So, I guess, I'll have to change those trip plans.

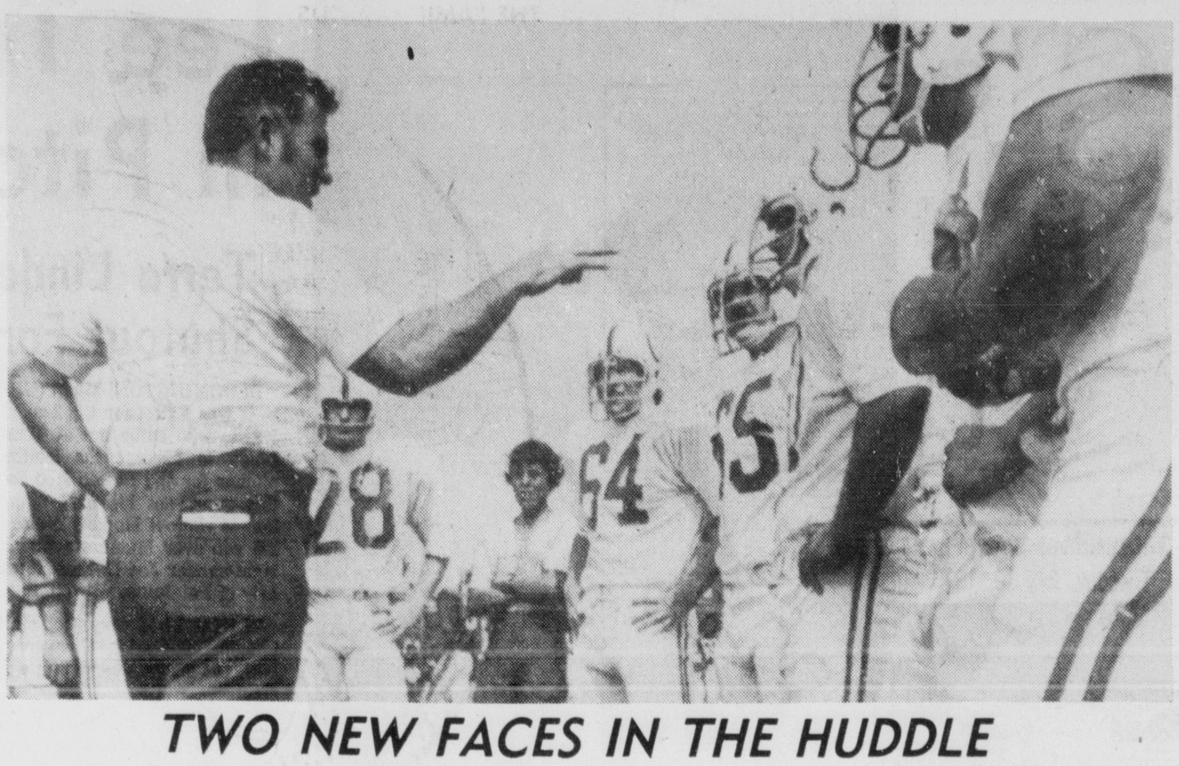
Fish and Game wardens now have inspections to make of live animals from other countries at the harbors and the plane terminals. Recently, a box from Thailand arrived marked "animal." The postal authorities called the local warden who checked the box and it's contents. It contained an elephant, but the warden still released it. It was made of teakwood.

THE FISH and Game Department pistol team won first place in the expert class police competition at the Championship Western Regional Pistol Shoot in San Diego recently. Rich Borba of Fairfax, the new San Francisco warden, went along as an alternate shooter. All he did was steal the show for the Fish and Game team, taking eight first places and two seconds in the markmanship classes.

A 30-acre site about four miles north of Watsonville, Santa Cruz County, along the San Andreas Road has been acquired for the Santa Cruz long-toed salamander, now on the endangered list. The property was purchased with funds obtained from the sale of those personalized license plates which goes into the Environmental Protection Program fund.

NOTHING ON the antelope hunt drawing dates as yet. The Fish and Game Commissioners did, at their last meeting, okay the taking of 300 antelope this year. Applications for the drawings and for the special deer hunts should be out soon.

Trout plants are scheduled for Lagunitas Lake this week.



TWO NEW FACES IN THE HUDDLE

Howard Schnellenberger (left), the new head coach of the Baltimore Colts, lectured members of the Colt backfield yesterday at their training camp in Baltimore. The huddle also included a young fan (not in uniform), just listening in for advice from the former offensive coordinator of the undefeated, Super Bowl champion Miami Dolphins.

3 More Clubs Open Up Camp

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The number of National Football League training camps in operation will swell to 10 today when three more clubs welcome rookies and selected veterans.

The Cleveland Browns open up facilities at Hiram College in Ohio, the New York Jets at Hofstra University in Hempstead, N.Y., and the Philadelphia Eagles at a new Widener College location in Chester, Pa.

The first camps for veterans will open Wednesday when the World Champion Miami Dolphins, who face the College All Stars in Chicago later this month, the New England Patriots and the Detroit Lions begin operations.

The last two clubs to open camp will be the Kansas City Chiefs, who have both veterans and rookies report on July 23, and the Minnesota Vikings, who have all players arrive on July 25.

In action Monday, Mike Kadish, the Dolphins' No. 1 draft choice a year ago who flopped in camp last summer and sat out the entire season, suffered a concussion during the club's first contact drill. Kadish, a former Notre Dame star, was held overnight for observation.

The Dolphins also announced the signing of their final draft choice, offensive tackle Leon Gray of Jackson State.

The San Diego Chargers announced the signing of Skip Singletary, a linebacker from Temple who was the club's No. 4 draft choice. Singletary was a guard in college.

Offensive lineman George Goeddeke of the Denver Broncos underwent knee surgery to correct an irritation behind his left kneecap.

Veteran John Hadl, acquired from San Diego in the offseason, was one of five quarterbacks working out as the Los Angeles Rams opened camp. Jim Harris, Sonny Sixkiller, Ron Jaworski and Tom Bergner are battling for the backup slot behind Hadl.

The Cincinnati Bengals traded wide receiver Louis "Speedy" Thomas to the Philadelphia Eagles for defensive tackle Jerry Ellison and the San Francisco Forty Niners dealt safetyman Johnny Fuller to New Orleans for a future draft choice.

Defensive tackle Glen Condren of the Atlanta Falcons announced his retirement to enter private business and the New England Patriots cut veteran Art May and rookie Steve Booras, both defensive ends.

John Carlos, the former sprint star who causes a furor at the 1968 Mexico City Olympics with his clinched fist salute, failed in another try at pro football as he was dropped by the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian League.

Miller, the last of the stars to arrive here, flew into nearby Prestwick Airport early Monday morning, and left himself barely 48 hours to tune up for Troon's 7,064-yard, par-72 links alongside the Firth of Clyde.

Yankees Succumb Again To Wood's Magic Spell

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Wilbur Wood burned the New York Yankees again Monday night, and not even the best fireman in baseball could control him.

Wood, the ace knuckleballer of the Chicago White Sox, defeated the Yankees for the eighth consecutive time dating back to July 18, 1971, when his teammates rallied for two runs in the ninth inning against relief specialist Sparky Lyle to score a 4-3 victory.

The Yankees, who scored three runs in the second inning against their old nemesis, took a 3-1 lead into the ninth and left it in the hands of Lyle, who already has recorded 22 saves this season. But this time Sparky didn't have it.

Lyle, who took over from George Medich in the eighth inning, surrendered a pinch single to Luis Alvarado to open the ninth and Buddy Bradford followed with another single, sending Alvarado to third. The next batter, Jorge Orta, hit a grounder to second baseman Horace Clarke, who instead of going for the double play, threw to the plate too late to get the speedy Alvarado.

Bradford moved to second on the play at home, and after Eddie Leon struck out, Pat Kelly singled in Bradford with the winning run.

"We were lucky," admitted Chicago Manager Chuck Tanner. "Kelly's game-winning hit just went by Gene Michael and Alvarado's hit just went by an infielder. But we were due for a game like that. We haven't had one like that for a long time."

Wood, who boosted his record to 16-12, started off slowly but retired 21 of the last 23 batters he faced, including 17 in a row at one stage.

In the only other American League action, Boston blanked Minnesota 2-0, Baltimore topped California 5-3, Texas nipped Detroit 9-7 in 12 innings and Kansas City routed Milwaukee 13-6.

New York edged Houston 2-1 in 12 innings, Cincinnati walloped Montreal 11-6 and Atlanta topped Philadelphia 6-3 in 10 innings in the only scheduled National League activity.

Bill Lee pitched a seven-hitter and Rico Petrocelli hit a two-run homer as the Red Sox moved to within one game of the first place Yankees in the AL East.

The Orioles took advantage of an error by rightfielder Richie Scheinblum to score three unearned runs in the fifth en route to victory over the Angels. Scheinblum dropped a line drive off the bat of Bobby Grich, allowing two runs to score, and Tommy Davis capped the rally with a run-scoring single. Dave McNally went six innings to gain his eighth victory.

Jim Mason hit a two-run homer in the 12th inning to lead the Rangers over the Tigers. Texas collected 18 hits, including five by Vic Harris, who set a club record for most hits in a game.

Kurt Bevacqua, a fifth inning replacement for Paul Schaal, drove in six runs with a grand slam homer and a bases-loaded single to spark the Royals' triumph over the Brewers.

Atlanta slugger Hank Aaron was bothered again by his chronic back ailment, so manager Eddie Mathews benched him, even when the Braves' situation became critical in the ninth inning with two outs and the Phillies ahead, 3-1.

Mathews needed a pinch-hitter, but he selected Paul Casanova, who promptly belted his first homer of the year to tie the game, and two other pinch-hitters, Frank Tepedino and Norm Miller, won the game in the 10th inning by walking and doubling, respectively.

Hal King's pinch-hit grand slam homer was the big blow of a seven-run sixth-inning rally which carried the Reds over the Expos. Joe Morgan and Johnny Bench homered for Cincinnati in a wild game during which Montreal and Cincinnati pitchers combined to walk a National League record 25 batters.

Felix Millan's two-out single in the 12th inning drove in the winning run for the Mets, who tied the score against Don Wilson in the ninth on Jim Beauchamp's run-scoring single.

Star Voting Ends; 2 A's Appear 'In'

NEW YORK (UPI) — The all-star balloting has ended and by the time the final tabulation has been completed next week, the world champion Oakland A's figure to be the only team with more than one player named to the starting lineup for the American League.

The voting for this year's allstar teams ended Monday, but the final figures won't be compiled until next week when the starting teams will be announced.

Outfielder Reggie Jackson and shortstop Bert Campaneris of Oakland are virtually guaranteed starting berths, but no other team figures to have more than one player named to the first unit.

Up until the latest returns released Monday, Kansas City appeared to have a chance of landing two starters. However, Rod Carew of Minnesota has swept past Kansas City's Cookie Rojas this week in the balloting for second base. Amos Otis of the Royals is practically assured of a starting outfield berth.

Actually, the Royals may end up with two starters but not by the vote of the fans. Dick Allen of the Chicago White Sox, who leads all AL votegetters with 735,021, has a lock on the first base position, but Allen is currently sidelined with a fractured leg and is a doubtful performer for the July 24 AllStar classic in Kansas City.

That would mean John Mayberry of Kansas City, the major league leader in runs batted in and current runnerup to Allen in the voting for first base, would get the starting nod.

Leaders in the National League voting, announced last week, include Hank Aaron of Atlanta at first, Joe Morgan of Cincinnatiat second, Chris Speier of San Francisco at shortstop, Ron Santo of Chicago at third, Johnny Bench of Cincinnati at catcher and outfielders Pete Rose of Cincinnati, Billy Williams of Chicago and Cesar Cedeno of Houston.

First Base: Dick Allen, Chicago 735,021; John Mayberry, Kansas City 438,837; Carl Yastrzemski, Boston 189,205; Norm Cash, Detroit 166,944; Harmon Killebrew, Minnesota 118,268; George Scott, Milwaukee 100,835.

Second Base: Rod Carew, Minnesota 586,916; Cookie Rojas, Kansas City 521,434; Bobby Grich, Baltimore 200,988; Horace Clark, New York 118,883; Doug Griffin, Boston 114,195; Sandy Alomar, California 106,900.

Third Base: Brooks Robinson, Baltimore 522,240; Bill Melton, Chicago 408,548; Sal Bando, Oakland 260,367; Aurelio Rodriguez, Detroit 200,438; Rico Petrocelli, Boston 128,907; Graig Nettles, New York 122,993.

Outfield: Reggie Jackson, Oakland 637,788; Bobby Murder, New York 509,946; Amos Otis, Kansas City 450,404; Matty Alou, New York 440,946; Frank Robinson, California 408,654; Al Kaline, Detroit 322,687.

Inter-Marin Booters Tie

Inter-Marin Soccer Club remained in second place in the NorCal Soccer League with a 1-1 tie against the Sacramento Senators Saturday night at San Rafael High School.

The Senators went ahead on a goal scored with ten minutes left in the game, but Inter-Marin came back to tie it with a last minute score by Ray Parker-Rhodes.

In other league action Saturday night, the host Oakland Rams defeated the Redwood City Monarchs, 3-2, to stay in first place and record their fourth straight win.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Famous associates. Each of the persons born today came to fame with someone else. Guess who?

1. David Brinkley should be a happy 53 today. After all, this TV newsman has won nearly every top award in broadcasting. His dry wit and razor-sharp comments persuaded NBC-TV to feature him nightly on its network news, teamed up with (A.) Harry Reasoner or (B) Chet Huntley.

2. Jean Kerr, American writer, not only liked studying literature but she married her teacher two years before graduating from Catholic University. Both quit education shortly after that, making names for themselves as playwrights, authors and critics. Jean is best known for penning "Please Don't Eat the Daisies." Her husband is drama critic (A) Walter Kerr or (B) Clark Kerr.

3. James Whistler (1834-1903) was an opinionated, self-centered and sensitive painter. He created storms of controversy during his lifetime. Born in Lowell, Mass., he flunked out of West Point because he didn't understand chemistry. His most famous painting features his (A) mother or (B) father.

4. George Dallas (1792-1864) was a vice president of the United States. Who doesn't know that? Well, even if you didn't, you can amaze your friends with such facts as these: He was a Democrat; he was born in Philadelphia; he also died there. He came to fame by being elected on the same ticket as (A) James K. Polk or (B) Franklin Pierce.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

The Longer The Finesse Can Be Postponed, Better For Play

"A finesse in an unimportant suit is like a dull husband," the Club Flirt remarked the other day. "You play around with anything that looks interesting, but if you have no luck you can always go home." It didn't sound like a good recipe for a happy marriage, but it seems to work very well at the bridge table.

LEADS TRUMP

West took the king of hearts and then led a trump.

South knew that he would have to lose two hearts and a club. If necessary, he could try a finesse in diamonds. However, there was no hurry about this dull finesse in an unimportant suit.

Declarer won the trump return with his ace, led a trump to dummy's nine and returned a club from dummy. East played low, and South won with the queen.

South next returned his low club, intending to finesse with dummy's nine. However, West carefully put up the ten of clubs to prevent the deep finesse with the nine.

SOUTH PLAYS LOW

South played a low club from dummy, and East followed suit with the eight of clubs. This card suggested that East might have only the blank ace of clubs left.

West shifted back to hearts, taking the ace of hearts and then leading a low heart. South won with the queen of hearts, led a spade to the dummy and returned dummy's low club.

EAST'S TROUBLES

Fortunately for South, East had to play the ace of clubs. South could ruff the ace of clubs and enter dummy with a trump in order to cash the king of clubs. On this card he could discard the queen of diamonds, and now the diamond finesse was no longer necessary.

As dealer, you hold:
♠ - A K 10 7 6
♥ - Q J 8
♦ - A Q
♣ - Q 3 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one spade.

The alternative is to bid one no-trump, but you have the maximum count of 18 points in addition to a strong five-card suit. This makes the hand too strong for the opening bid of one no-trump.

Meeting Cancelled

The Petaluma Recreation, Music and Parks Commission meeting scheduled for tomorrow has been cancelled for lack of business, according to recreation director James R. Raymond. The next meeting will be held Aug. 8 at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

Apeco Looks Dismal But Just Hang On

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I have held Apeco Corp. (NYSE) for 9 years. It is now around $4; I paid $15. What should I do now? — C.A.

Q. I hold 300 Apeco shares bought at $21. Could you please give me some advice? — C.O.

A. Despite a 15 per cent increase in sales, earnings for the six months ended May 31, 1973, were again below those of the comparable 1972 fiscal period. Because the relative market value of the shares of both Apeco and Van Dyk has changed since merger plans were announced in March, terms have been modified. The latest agreement calls for Apeco to issue 3½ shares of common for each of the 1.5 million shares of Van Dyk outstanding. This represents a 56.9 per cent increase in the number of common shares. Although Van Dyk brings to the union a product which is the fastest photocopier presently on the market, Van Dyk's earnings for 1972 were off at 5 cents a share. However, Van Dyk's profit margin at 12 per cent after tax is certainly more impressive than the 2.5 per cent take down reported by Apeco for the six months through May 31, 1973. This rather discouraging situation certainly will require patience from holders, but gradual workout appears possible.

Q. I would like to know what the effects are of a rights offering. — G.M.

A. This is determined first of all by the terms of the particular offering, which frequently tend to be at the rate of one share for 10 currently outstanding. As a general rule of thumb the new shares will dilute earnings in proportion to the increase in common outstanding.

However, one must also consider the savings in interest costs afforded by using equity to raise capital as compared with employing a debt issue.

Stocks Take Sharp Jump

NEW YORK (UPI) — Encouraged by speculation the U.S. government would support the dollar on foreign markets, investors pushed prices sharply higher in fairly active trading early today on the New York Stock Exchange.

Although the Federal Reserve Board has refused comment, there has been speculation during the past two days the board would step in to prop up the dollar abroad.

BIG SWING FOR SAN RAFAEL
